Mines Pact Seen Lewis Grand Slam

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The odds lengthened today that John L. Lewis would play his new, ace-studded contract into a grand slam.

With 75 per cent of the soft coal industry signed up for work and shooting at full production by tomorrow, southern operators still held out against the unprecedented wage pact signed yesterday by most northern and western producers.

The Southern Coal Producers Ass'n prepared to make its "final decision" today. Its 100,000 workers are idle.

But one association member acknowledged privately that it looked as though, sooner or later, all would be "forced" to accede. Lewis, it was learned, rejected their request to alter some of the terms in a 90-minute session yesterday.

Federal labor officials conceded it would be difficult for the South to hold out alone, with the rest of the country producing and selling coal—at a price perhaps 70 cents to $1 a ton higher than before.

Lewis proclaimed his own certainty of the outcome.

It is "reasonable to assume," he said, after telling reporters of the United Mine Workers' fat contract gains, that the rest of the industry will sign up in a few days.

He indicated a resolve to smash the Southern Association, his bitterest industry antagonist in recent years terming it purely a "propaganda agency" with which the UMW need not deal. Lewis said any of its 13 member associations may sign up independently.

Besides the unprecedented con-

DISCUS HURLERS

RICHMOND, Va., July 9 (TP)—Dozens of "flying discs" soared over midtown Richmond during the afternoon rush hour and several were recovered by astonished residents.

The discs were paper pie plates—as differentiated from the "flying saucers" sighted in recent weeks, and were propelled by jokesters from the top of a tall building.

Elizabeth's Betrothal Word Due

By HOWARD BERRY

LONDON, July 9 (INS)—Betrothal of Princess Elizabeth to former Prince Philip of Greece was accepted by the British press as certain today with announcement that an "important statement" will be made by King George VI tonight.

A reliable government informant conceded that the King's announcement would concern the young heiress-apparent to Britain's throne and 26-year-old Philip.

The authoritative British Press Ass'n said:

"It is learned from official sources at Buckingham Palace that an authorized statement will be made regarding reports of the betrothal which will clear up the whole matter."

All evening newspapers in London carried banner headlines stating the engagement announcement is expected.

The Evening Standard's headline read:

"Princess weds in October."

The Standard also reported that ministers of the various dominions have been informed and that all formalities essential to official announcement have been carried out.

At the admiralty, it was learned that the former Greek prince, now a naturalized British citizen and known as plain Lt. Philip Mountbatten, is still at his naval training establishemin at Corsham in Wiltshire.

Many preliminaries must be gone through, including the assent of Parliament in traditional manner. A refusal is hardly possible inasmuch as Philip is popular with the British people and the long-reported romance has taken the public fancy.

It was predicted the official London Gazette might, in the next few days, contain an announcement making Philip a "peer of the realm," and possibly conferring upon him a dukedom. Philip, since renouncing his Greek title and becoming a British citizen, has enjoyed only "commoner" status.

As report from Athens declared the bethrothal would be announced formally by the King, Louis Wulff, court correspondent for the British Press Ass'n, declared that before any engagement of an heiress-presumptive could be announced, there would have to be a special meeting of the privy council—and that no such meeting has yet been called.

Ever since Elizabeth became 21 years old on April 21, gossip reporting her engagement has been increasing.

Young Philip is a cousin of King George IV and the Duchess of Kent, a nephew of Viscount Mountabatten. He also is the son of Prince Andrew of Greece and grandson of the assassinated King George I of the Hellenes.

Mystery of Discs Deepens As Texas Find Proves Dud

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 9 (AP)—An examination by the Army revealed last night that a mysterious object found on a lonely New Mexico ranch was a harmless high-altitude weather balloon—not a ground flying disc.

Excitement was high in disc-conscious Texas until Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, commander of the Eighth Air Forces with headquarters here, cleared up the mystery.

The bundle of tinfoil, broken wood beams and rubber remnants of a balloon were sent here yesterday by Army air transport in the wake of reports that it was a flying disc.

But the general said the objects were the crushed remains of a the direction and velocity of winds ray wind target used to determine at high altitudes.

The weather balloon was found several days ago in a desolate section of New Mexico by a rancher, W. W. Brazill. He said he didn't think much about it until he went into Corona, N. M., last Saturday and heard the flying disc reports.

He returned to his ranch, 85 miles northwest of Roswell, and recovered the wreckage of the balloon, which he had placed under some brush.

Brazill hurried back to Roswell, where he reported his find to the sheriff's office.

The sheriff called the Roswell air field and Maj. Jesse A. Marcel, 509th Bomb Group intelligence officer, was assigned to the case.

Col. William H. Blanchard, commanding officer of the bomb group, reported the find to Gen. Ramey and the object was flown immediately to the Army air field here.

Ramey went on the air here last night to announce the New Mexico discovery was not a flying disc.

Discs Now Reported By East Texas Town

SHREVEPORT, La., July 9 (INS)—An operations officer at Barksdale field said that the field received a call that a group of 15 persons in Longview, Tex., were watching "approximately 20 discs flying in a circle over the town."

He said that all such calls are being turned over to operations for checking and he imagined the call was put through to Barksdale from Longview "because they knew of no one else to report it to."

Workers Sight Discs in Colorado

PUEBLO, Col., July 9 (INS)—Ordnance depot workers at Pueblo today reported seeing 12 flying discs.

The men said they sighted the objects yesterday during their lunch hour. They reported that the saucers were flying over the city, and disappeared rapidly into the west.

Col. Charles H. Keck, depot commander, said he did not share the experience.

Over in Zabool in Iran They See "Saucers," Too

TEHRAN, July 9 (AP)—The flying saucer fever spread to Iran today.

Reports from Zabool, Shosef and Sarbisheh near the Afghan frontier said residents there had observed strange starlike bodies in the sky which exploded loudly, leaving a cloud of smoke.

An Iran newspaper said the objects apparently had something to do with a secret weapon, which it dubbed "V-20."

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—Safe! Safe after 48 hours and 57,600 miles in a flying saucer from Mars! And now I can tell the world the full story of what happened after Balmiston X-Ray O'Rune, the eight-foot, green-haired Martian pilot, snagged me off a bar stool.

You will remember that Balmiston—I got to calling him "Balmy"—and 499 other Martian pilots came here in flying saucers on a universe-wide "treasure hunt" sweepstakes. The game was to find and take Mars Orson Wells and 11 other difficult objects—such as a whalebone stay from Queen Victoria's corset.

"Let's go look first for the lost gold tooth of Magellan," said Balmiston, after a few warming-up trips across the continent.

The Flying Saucer handled beautifully. One-eyed Balmy leaned back dreamily and began to whistle through the top of his head.

"I think I'll take you up to Mars and introduce you to my sister, Violet Ray O'Rune," he said.

"Does she have an eye in her forehead and green hair like you, Balmy?" I shuddered.

"Sure," he said, "do you think

Posse of 200 Hunts Missing Girl Camper

By DON MacPHAIL and JAMES J. DELANEY

A 200-man searching party of police and volunteers groped through the mist-draped wilderness of Granite Hill, N. H., today for 13-year-old Nadia Ann Evans of Belmont, who vanished from exclusive Camp Tabor early yesterday under circumstances that baffled the 32 camp councilors and gave her father, an internationally known M. I. T. scientist, fear of foul play.

BULLETIN

CONCORD, N. H., July 9—Maj. Dwight Comstock of the State Police said this noon that search for Nadia Ann Evans had turned to Newbury—about 10 miles from Wilmot Center—following a report a girl answering her description had hitchhiked an automobile ride with a farmer.

Comstock reported the girl told the farmer she intended to take a train from Newbury to Boston. The State Police official said he was convinced the girl had left the Wilmot Center summer camp voluntarily and was on her way home to Belmont, Mass.

Th egirl, who had been at the camp hardly more than a week, rode off into the early dawn after telling her cabin companions she was going for a ride.

Shortly after 7 a. m., less than three miles away in a woods road, her saddle and blanket were found, the saddle neatly placed on the blanket.

A circular set of hoofprints near-by revealed the horse, whether still mounted or riderless at that point, had turned back. The animal was found at 9:30 a. m., grazing in the rear of the Simon Grace farm, one mile nearer the camp.

There all clues ended and the rocky ledges of Granite Hill, overhung with heavy brush, gave no hint or sign of the little girl's movements.

Prof. Robley D. Evans of Marsh st., Belmont, her father, who had flown home only yesterday from a London conference of scentists and government officials, said after talking with Camp Tabor officials by telephone today:

"If Nadia does not appear within 24 hours we must lean toward the possibility of foul play. We hope instead that she left the camp because of some childish whim, some adolescent impulse, and may be trying to hitchhike home.

"She was a good rider. She was in no way afraid of horses. She often rode bareback and knew how to handle a horse well. Still accidents can happen to the best of riders. But there simply isn't enough information yet to give us much inkling as to what happened."

The camp from which Nadia vanished has a school and recreation group of 52 boys and girls ranging from 6 to 14 years, children of well-to-do parents for the most part. It is perched 1650 feet above sea level and comprises a number of smal cabins.

Naida arose yesterday before the darkness had waned. She told the other girls the night before she simply wanted an early morning ride, alone, which they did not consider odd in view of her enthusiasm for horses.

She quietly donned a heavy pair of blue dungarees and a striped polo shirt. Half a mile away were the stables. The horse she chose was a big bay, "Tex," owned by the riding instructor, a tractable animal but regarded as a mount nevertheless for a trained rider.

Hoofprints found by early searchers led down Wilmot rd. for a mile, then turned into the even more wooded Elkin rd. for almost two miles, where the saddle and blanket were found.

No foot prints of the girl were found here by the discoverer of the riding equipment, John Sargent of Andover.

The horse was found near the Grace farm by JJohn F. Fitzgerald, 66, of Elkin rd., who led it back to the camp. By that time the other children were being questioned as to when they last saw Nadi.

The terrain where state and local police, with camp councilors and vocal volunteers are searching, is rought, treacherous country, with many brush-concealed ravines and gullies.

Concord State Police took radio equipment into the search this morning, also powerful lighting equipment for signaling and searching. The posse was handi-

The would-be bandit fled, but the next man in line pursued, collared him and called the police.

Tax Relief Urged For Home Owners

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Arthur W. Binns today urged Congress to approve legislation allowing persons who occupy their own homes to claim the same tax deduction for maintenance and depreciation as is now allowed owners of rental property.

Binns, president of the National Home and Property Owners Foundation told the House ways and means committee the present federal tax structure discriminates against the home owner.

He said a tax equality for home owners bill, introduced by ways and means Chairman Knutson (R.) of Minnesota, would offer an incentive to home ownership.

New York Radio Actress Found Strangled in Home

NEW YORK, July 9 (INS)—Sheila Mannering, 49, radio and film actress, was found strangled today in her seventh-floor Manhattan apartment. Her body was lying nude on the floor of the bedroom, between twin beds.

One end of a bed sheet was knotted tightly around her throat, and an orange colored towel was stuffed in her mouth.

Police said the bedsheet with which she had been killed was blood-stained.

As far as could be determined immediately, the actress lived alone in the apartment.

Police were sent to the scene. They included detectives of the homicide squad and laboratory and fingerprint men.

LUCKY DAY

PHILADELPHIA, July 9 (AP)—Three-months-old Allan Frederick Kaminski probably won't remember it but this was his lucky day.

Allan was in his carriage in front of a shop when two trucks collided. The spare tire flew off one and struck the front of the carriage, overturning it and pinning the baby underneath.

Police rushed the lad to a hospital. He didn't have a scratch.

Only Lend-Lease Can Avert World 'Bust', Briton Warns

LONDON, July 9 (INS)—Herbert Morrison, lord president of the council, bluntly warned the U. S. that the only way to avert an international industrial disaster is to return to the wartime lend-lease system.

In a dramatic speech before a glum House of Commons, Morrison called for immediate drastic measures to ward off the impending crisis he envisaged.

Morrison declared the "twelfth hour strikes this autumn" and that the only remedy lies in devising some means whereby billions of dollars worth of North and South American production can be transferred across the Atlantic without the necessity of immediate payments in the form of European goods.

He declared it would be to the mutual benefit of the various nations to fall back on the system by which the greatest production effort in history was realized during the war, but he explained he was not certain whether the same lend-lease system would be applied now.

Morrison said that if the wartime system could not be applied, a more appropriate means should be found to maintain the life-giving flow of goods and services to a stricken Europe.

He declared that Britain had overstrained herself and could do no more than she is doing.

He cited Britain's drain on dollars to help feed Germany, and shortages in steel and mining machinery.

He also stressed that, whereas Britain originally asked the United States for a $5,000,000,000 loan, only three-quarters of this amount was granted.

He declared Britain had done more to restore pre-war production than any other country which had felt the impact of Nazi-waged war.

Conservative leader Anthony Eden claimed during debate on the British import program that the American and Canadian loans are likely to last beyond 1947.

Eden said the import reduction program was "utterly inadequate" in the present "serious" situation and said "we can not become permanent pensioners of the U. S."

'Slave' Felt Life Owed to Ingalls

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 9 (AP)—Negro Maid Dora Jones thinks Mrs. Alfred Wesley Ingalls was the dominating figure in her life—her declaration coming under cross-examination, which continues today, in the Ingalls' federal court slavery trial.

Dora said she still felt she had wronged Mrs. Ingalls through an affair with her first husband, Walter Harmon of Washington, D. C.—declaring at one point: "I felt I owed my life to her."

She admitted she had seen her name on a bank book and was told she had a joint account with Mrs. Ingalls. The maid also said that she understood she had industrial stocks in her name.

But she never received any pay outright for her years of work, she insisted.

The government charges that the maid, now 58, served the Ingalls without pay, and was enslaved under threats of jail and hell based on the affair with Mrs. Ingalls' first husband.

N. E. Shoe Production Off 29 P. C. in April

The New England Shoe and Leather Ass'n announced today a decline of 29 per cent in April shoe production in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts from the same month of 1946. Production in April this year amounted to 12,381,000 pairs of shoes. The value of shipments was $46,853,000, an average of $3.83 per pair.

Massachusetts led with 6,797,000 pairs in April.

Tax Cut Bill Moves to Senate

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON, July 9 (INS)—Senate Republicans shot theif second House-passed tax reduction bill before the Senate finance committee today and was approved by the committee in 43 minutes. The vote was 10 to 3.

Chairman Milliken (R.) of Colorado promised approval of the $4,000,000,000 tax relief bill—without change—before nightfall. A committee vote of 10 to 3 was indicated.

GOP Senators were cheered by the 302 to 112 House vote, 26 more than needed to override a Presidential veto, which sent the new tax reduction bill to the Senate.

The legislation is unchanged from the original bill killed last month except that it would become effective next January 1 instead of July 1, 1947.

But GOP leaders still were only "hopeful" that they would muster enough Senate votes to override a veto in the upper chamber.

Democrats armed with amendments formed a battle line which they conceded would have little effect until a veto test is reached.

Sen. Lucas (D.) of Illinois, introduced a substitute bill to boost personal exemptions $150 and cut surtax rates four points in place of the GOP plan reducing income taxes from 10½ to 30 per cent.

Lucas said of his program:

"There is no question in my mind that this program would be acceptable to the White House if any tax reductions are acceptable at this time."

U. S. Blasts Red Hope Of Greek Compromise

LAKE SUCCESS, July 9 (AP)—The United States served notice today that it would reject any compromise plans growing out of Russia's counter-proposal to the United Nations on Balkan disorders.

A spokesman said American demands for a semi-permanent border commission to watch over Greece's frontiers with Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria were not affected by the latest Russian arguments.

He added that the Council eventually would have to vote on the American resolution, which embodies the principal points of a majority report submitted by the 11-nation Balkan investigating commission.

Such a ballot would force Russia to veto or abstain in view of her announced refusal to accept the American motion.

The spokesman conceded that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's 78-minute speech of yesterday, virtually in direct opposition to the American stand, might prompt some delegations to put forward such compromises.

There still was nothing definite on new proposals but Poland—a constant voting partner with the Soviet Union—and France, with her big Communist vote at home, were viewed as possible originators.

The American delegation was expected to reply to some of Gromyko's more biting accusations against the United States later this week. At one point Gromyko termed American aid to Greece "a new form of intervention" in Greece's internal affairs.

He also called for UN supervision of all economic aid to Greece in renewed efforts to place the American program of direct support under international control.

Observers here generally agreed that Gromyko's counter-proposals, with the probability of compromises, would delay a decision on the Greek case for weeks. Gromyko certainly will insist on a full debate on his program and that alone will take several meetings.

FRANKFURT, July 9 (INS)—A German engineer disclosed in Frankfurt that Soviet technicians are stepping up the mining of uranium in Poland and their occupation zone of Germany.

The engineer said that more than 100,000 Russians and Germans are working the mines, and no one is permitted to approach the areas without a special pass.

Greeks Seize 2000 to Nip Commie Plot

ATHENS, July 9 (AP)—The Greek government announced that more than 2000 persons were arrested in the Athens area early today in raids aimed at stamping out a Communist plot to stage a revolution and spread civil war.

Minister of Public Order Napoleon Zervas said the zero hour for the Communist stroke was to have been around 1 a. m. tomorrow when attacks were to have been staged simultaneously in all parts of Greece, bringing the present mountain guerrilla warfare into urban centers.

Between 3000 and 4000 police, gendarmes and soldiers staged the lightning raids before dawn this morning, Zervas said. He added that any important Communists already had fled and either were hiding in Athens or in the mountains.

Most of those arrested, he said, will be taken to islands near Athens while the investigating continues.

The transport already has begun. Some ringleaders, Zervas added, will remain in Athens to await hearings. Those not implicated in the plot will be released and others probably will be exiled, officials said.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 9 (AP)—Mme. Elena Lupescu, who went through what was described as a deathbed marriage ceremony to former King Carol of Romania last Thursday, was reported in an unchanged condition today and still dangerously ill.

Mme. Lupescu, compaion for 23 years of the man who twice fled the Romanian throne, is suffering from anemia. The wedding ceremony was complicated by provision of Brazilian law which does not permit divorce. Both Carol and Mme. Lupescu had been divorced.

Lawyer Insists On Full Story in Ashland Murder

ASHLAND, July 9—Determined "to fully protect" the rights of his young client, 13-year-old Ralph Duchacek, charged with the "laundry bag" slaying of Mrs. Dorothy Swenson, 41, in her Union st. home, Defense Atty. Anthony J. DiCicco, Jr., former Middlesex County assistant district attorney, said he would confer with Duchacek at the East Cambridge jail today.

The attorney, who for almost 10 years, had been prosecutor on several murder cases in the county in which he will defend the young Ashland youth, said he only talked with him for five minutes before his appearance in district court.

"I am anxious to get the complete story of what happened and must spend considerable time with my client," was DiCicco's only comment.

The State Police, however, continued their investigation of the circumstances surrounding the strange murder in an attempt to find the motive for the crime.

The Ashland woman was found dead in her home by her daughter, Barbara, 17, who had returned from a summer camp at New Hampshire. The woman had been struck on the head, stabbed once and then strangled. The strangulation was accomplished, police said, by placing the woman's head in a laundry back and tightening the cord.

Police, who picked up Duchacek at his home several hours after the woman's body had been discovered, said the newsboy had told them "everything the slayer could have known." They disclosed that he had told them he had made an attempt to stab the woman with a kitchen knife, but had failed and succeeded in only inflicting a superficial wound which failed to penetrate her abdomen.

Police said they found the knife exactly where the boy had told them he had left it.

In spite of the overwhelming evidence, which police say they have, residents of this small town still found it hard to believe that the boy whom they knew as a "model youth" in the community and a good student could have been capable of the crime.

Adding to the puzzling circumstances surrounding the crime was the unanimous agreement of all who knew the boy that he was the "home type," a boy full of fun and high spirits, but not vicious or wayward.

Chums of the accused 13-year-old declared he was inclined to be a "sissy," declaring they didn't consider him capable of "killing a fly."

Over the week-end, while Mrs. Swensen's body lay cold in death in her neat, white home surrounded by trim shrubs and fragrant flower gardens, young Duchacek's behavior betrayed nothing out of the ordinary, Arnold Bean, proprietor of the Ashland news store, and Ralph's employer, declared:

"Last Sunday morning he was raising the dickens in the store and the other boys playfully pushed him out because he was too noisy," Bean recalled.

Bean also recalled, however, that on Monday afternoon, shortly before he was taken into custody, Ralph returned from his route with nine papers still undelivered, an exceptionally large number of returns. He made no explanation, but appeared nervous," Bean reported.

Rita Corday to Wed Producer's Son

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 9—Lovely and blonde Paule Croset, who was chosen from 130 contestants for the prized role of Lorraine in Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.'s "The Exiles," will become a bride before the end of the month.

Paule, who made her American film debut some time ago with RKO studios under the name of Rita Corday, is 22, blue-eyed, svelte and exotic. She was born in Tahiti of French parents and educated in Shanghai, Switzerland and Paris.

Her groom-to-be is the 25-year-old son of film producer Seymour Nebenzal—Harold—who won distinction in the south Pacific, where he served as a U.S. Marine Corps officer.

The young couple met recently when the older Nebenzal was host at a party that signalled the completion of one of his pictures. They have been constantly in each other's company ever since.

Phone Call Checked In Hunt for Lawyer

Atty. John W. Savage, 36, former president of the Quincy City Council, who has been missing since July 4, telephoned his wife, Charlotte, the day he disappeared, Quincy police disclosed today.

While Boston authorities continued dragging Ft. Point channel near the Summer st. bridge where Savage's car was found abandoned, Quincy Police Capt. George H. Fallon assigned two officers to interview Mrs. Savage and get full details about the telephone call.

Fallon said police also would seek permission to search the Savage home in President ave., Quincy. There has been no one at home there since the holiday when Mrs. Savage and her daughter, Catherine, 6, went to Braintree to spend the week-end with her parents.

"The telephone call may prove important," Capt. Fallon said. "We want to know what time it was made and where it was made from."

Fallon added that a Quincy undertaker today notified him that he had seen Savage walking along Summer st., toward the South Station, at 1:15 p. m. on the holiday. Charles Wickens of Adams st., Quincy, who was at the station to receive a body being shipped from the West, said Savage, whom he knews well, was hatless and walking with his head down.

Dragging of the channel in Boston was started after police found the missing man's abandoned car and learned of a note he had sent his wife. The note, addressed to "Charl," the attorney's nickname for his wife, read:

"Good-by and God bless you. I am sorry but it had to be."

Search for the missing lawyer started when Mrs. Savage reported him missing yesterday afternoon. The hunt spread to New York on the theory that the young attorney might have taken a train from South Station to New York.

Capt. Fallon said police also were checking a report that Savage went by train to the races at Narragansett Park.

Eye-Witnesses Describe Overell Death Explosion

By ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHNS

(Noted writer and novelist whose father, the late Earl Rogers, was regarded as one of the nation's greatest criminal trial lawyers.)

SANTA ANA, Cal., July 9—At last the parade of real witnesses has begun. The witnesses who saw, heard, were part of the tragedy which ended at Newport Beach on the night of March 15 when Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overell were killed. The night the Mary E. blew up.

The two patrolmen who were first on the scene in their radio car, George W. Calihan, thin, mondescript, mousey until he speaks, when he produces an enchanting drawl and a choice of homey phrases worthy of Will Rogers, Calihan informed young Henry A. Dietz of the attorney-general's staff that he couldn't say where Mary E. was exactly in those first minutes — "can't walk on the water myself," Calihan drawls and takes the sting out of the slight rebuke with a typical Will Rogers grin.

Then two figures appearing—Louise Overell and Bud Gollum, who have gone ashore, so fortunately for themselves at exactly that moment, to get hamburgers.

Miss Overell was scared, but Bud re-assured her. Louise was sure it was the Mary E. and began to cry and later the girl screaming hysterically, screaming and sobbing and crying.

What kind of screams? Screams of grief, and pity and disbelief and horror?

Calihan and Goddard do not say.

The last witnesses may be the defendants, Louise Overell and Bud Gollum, and then perhaps we shall know even more of that dark night.

NO KIDDING, SON

SALT LAKE CITY, July 9 (AP)—Merle Stewart, remembering Army practical jokes such as left-handed monkey wrenches and bunk stretchers, was skeptical when he came on a War Assets Adm. surplus sale list showing "trunk, elephant, one lot."

He investigated, believing he would find it all in fun, but learned an "elephant trunk" is a flexible nozzle used on cement mixers.

Hurt Flier Gets Blood Via Radio

HONOLULU, July 9 (AP)—Three blood plasma transfusions—one administered by an expectant mother who listened to a doctor's instructions via amateur radio—enabled a 19-year-old Army radioman to survive a night plane crash at Palmyra Island which cost his right arm and leg.

The blond radioman, whom 7th Air Force officers declined to identify, was brought by rescue plane to Hickam Field with five shaken but unhurt fellow crewmen.

Their C-46 cargo plane had crashed on a reef at Palmyra, 1000 miles south of Hawaii. The plane broke into several pieces and crewmen scrambled out, rescue crewmen reported.

The radioman, they said told them he thought at first the transmitter had exploded; he reached for a fire extinguisher but discovered "I don't have any hand."

Crawling from the shattered, burning plane into knee-deep water, he stumbled twice and thought he was stepping into a hole; "then I found my leg was gone."

He screamed for help, and other crewmen carried him 100 yards through the surf to shore.

Lt. Clarence Vicroy of Honolulu, communications officer of the rescue plane, said the radioman remained conscious throughout the nearly six-hour flight back to Hawaii, and chatted with the crew.

The other five, who hardly suffered a scratch, were Lt. Thomas A. Sellers, Red Level, Ala., the pilot; Lt. Lloyd A. Woodward, Bethany, Okla., co-pilot; Lt. Alfred W. Platz, Milford, Ct. navigator; T-Sgt. Ernest W. Birch, Honolulu, assistant engineer; and S-Sgt. Fred H. Simmons, Cabot, Ark., engineer.

Woodward and Sellers carried the injured radioman through the pounding waves to safety. Then they roused the civil aeronautics authority crew on Palmyra, and first aid was given.

Touriquets and bandages staunched the flow of blood while radio appeals for help were transmitted. An Audubon, N. J. amateur heard the calls and radioed instructions from a doctor in that city, some 6000 miles distant.

The rescue plane meanwhile took off from Hickham Field, and Lt. E. R. Shanahan, Washington, D. C., the army doctor aboard, radioed his instructions from the plane.

AIDED FLIER—Joseph Bonsted, Audubon, N. J., amateur radio operator, helped relay medical instructions to Palmyra island, 6000 miles away, and saved life of 19-year-old Army radioman who was injured in Pacific plane crash.

Senate Action On Training Demanded

By DAN MARKEL
Boston American
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 9 — Sen. Magnuson (D.) of Washington, called on Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio, to "remove the road blocks to Senate action on universal military training."

He declared the issue is too vital to be blocked by "any single opinion."

Hearings are being held in the House on universal military training but have so far been suppressed in the Senate.

"As chairman of the majority policy committee in the upper house, Sen. Taft wields the tremendous authority for opening the door to Senate consideration of national security proposals," Magnuson said.

"The test of majority leadership should include responsibility for unbiased decisions despite personal convictions.

"Congress should and must be given the chance to speak its mind."

Magnuson, a World War II veteran, urged that Taft, as the Senate's top legislative traffic officer, give the green light to UMT legislation "and let Congress decide the issue on its own conscience."

Magnuson challenged recent statements that the militarists insist on conscription.

"Military training can hardly be passed off as being the military's baby," he said.

"Educators, clergymen and statesmen of both parties are prominent among the millions of civilians endorsing it as a national defense factor.

"President Truman was a combatant in the first World War and he knows something about this from the fighting man's viewpoint. Twice he has asked Congress to consider the measure; the first time nearly two years ago.

"Then the special Compton committee studied universal military training intensely for six months. Although weighted with educators and clergymen, the commission agreed unanimously that military training is a democratic way to national security.

Kansas Harvesting Greatest Wheat Crop

GREAT BEND, Kan., July 9 (AP)—The golden tide is rolling in from Kansas' big wheat harvest, thanks to a combination of good weather, improvement in the supply of combines, and determination to bring in the state's greatest crop.

Some observers said the crop will top the government estimate of 278,000,000 bushels.

C. of C. Asks Hub Woo Conventions

Immediate planning of new and greater convention facilities in Boston was advocated today by Michael T. Kelleher, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, who said that 15 principal competitor cities in the country possess or have definite plans to erect large municipal auditoriums and exposition halls.

"We recognize the need of such facilities in Boston and a survey committee will be appointed shortly to develop plans and submit recommendations," Kelleher stated. He pointed out that conventions already booked here for the current year and for 1948 and 1949 will bring 600,000 visitors to the city, an average of 200,000 a year.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

(Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SOME MONTHS AGO, I was discussing the mining situation with friends who are in the steel industry. I had assumed that they would be cursing John L. Lewis and the miners up and down the road. Surprisingly one of the strongest men in steel put the position in these words:

"We cannot get down to where the British are. Their miners are underpaid and work under the most unfavorable conditions. I do not understand why any man would want to work in a British mine. The result is that coal is not being mined there and their industry —the whole of British industry—is in a terrible condition. They have adopted Socialism because they do not know how to get production except by force and they get none that way."

Then he went on to say:

"The steel industry must have coal. We have to make coal mining attractive if we are to have coal. We have to make it attractive to young men so that they will go into this industry. They won't go into coal mining today and I don't blame them."

I RECALLED this conversation to this steel man of the so-called Little Steel group, when the recent settlement for a new agreement was reached with John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers. He was pleased that the new contract called for an increase of double the average for other labor. The steel group, he told me, had determined in advance that there would be no quarrel with Lewis over wages.

This does not at all mean that another general increase in wages is in sight. The miners are a special case. They were among the most poorly paid workers and conditions of employment were always most unsatisfactory.

The theory upon which this extremely intelligent management reasoned is that coal mining must be brought up to the level of any other industry. It must not be permitted to remain so unattractive by lagging behind the general standards of heavy industry. The miners should be in a preferred class because otherwise young men, particularly in periods of labor shortage, will go into other industries.

Last winter when I visited the anthracite coal regions in Pennsylvania, I was astonished to find that young veterans preferred joblessness to mining, particularly as those to whom I spoke came of families in which mining has been a tradition.

IT IS NOT TOO OFTEN that management displays this type of intelligence and it is comforting that even in the period of wild propagandistic statements on all sides over the Taft-Hartley bill, this new contract, containing such attractive terms for the miners, should have been negotiated in so short a time.

No one company and no one man was responsible for this; it was the general consensus of opinion in the industry.

What it means is that American production, which has been faltering because of strikes, has been given a strong tonic. If this country can be one year without any major strike in its crucial industries, it will be strong enough to meet any situation it may have to face.

A coal strike means means lessened steel production which means lessened automobile production. This applies to practically all basic industries. For instance, up here in the Berkshires, we have been waiting for about five years for some rural electrification. We are now told that we shall have to wait longer because the electric light people lack wire.

They lack wire because of coal and steel strikes a year ago. The effects of strikes are not immediate; their worst effects appear very much later in the lag in production.

IF, AFTER ALL the excitement over the Taft-Hartley bill, management and labor could do so well over coal, there is no reason why all problems in this field cannot be settled by peaceful negotiations.

As a matter of fact, one of the immediate effects of the Taft-Hartley bill will surely be that the NLRB will be bypassed and that there will be a restoration of collective bargaining, which practically disappeared under the operations of the Wagner Act. A better day dawns than we have known these many years.

Our years of experience give you the utmost in quality and service—plus unsurpassed values!

N. E. Garden Crops Still Backward

The crop reporting service of the Department of Agriculture announced today development of many vegetables in the New England area was relatively backward for July 1 despite more favorable growing weather in the last part of June.

First plantings of snap beans were delayed by cool, rainy weather, resulting in spotty stands. The beet crop was above average.

The early cabbage crop has been disappointing. Early carrots were later than usual. Summer squash was off to a slow start. Spotty stands of early sweet corn reflect poor germination and replantings.

The tomato crop was favored by recent warm weather.

GOP Bloc Fights Farm Fund Cut

WASHINGTON, July 9 (INS)—Farm state Republican senators revolted against approving drastic House cuts in the agriculture appropriations bill and Sen. Aiken (R) of Vt., said the issue was packed with "political dynamite."

The GOP farm bloc expressed vigorous opposition to the House slash of $341,000,000 in the 1948 farm bill during a two and one-half hour long conference of all Republican senators.

UN Hears Promised Land Defined

JERUSALEM, July 9 (AP)—The United Nations special committee investigating Palestine problems dipped into Biblical history today to seek a definition of the Promised Land.

Bearded, aged Rabbi G. L. Fishman of the Jewish Agency, was fuestioned at length on the point by India's Sir Abdur Rahman, the only Moslem member on the committee.

"What was the Promised Land?" Sir Abdur asked.

"It reached from El Arish (near the present Palestine-Egyptian frontier) to the Euphrates river," the rabbie replied.

"Was Egypt included?"

"No."

"Iraq?"

"No."

"But I take it," Sir Abdur said, "Syria, Lebanon, Trans-Jordan and the Palestine of today are included. When was this Promise made by God?"

"About 4000 years ago."

"When was it confirmed by God?"

"It was confirmed by Moses."

"Has not God also made a promise to the Sons of Ishmael?" (Ishmael, son of Abraham, is regarded by the Moslems as one of their prophets.)

"No," Rabbi Fishman replied. "This promise was given only to Isaac. To the sons of Ishmael another part of this world was promised.'

"Has it not been left to the Messiah to bring the Jews back to the Promised Land?"

"No. The Jews shall return before the Messiah comes and the Messiah will come only after their return," Rabbi Fishman said. He spoke in Hebrew, and his words were translated by Eliezer Kaplan, treasurer of the Jewish Agency.

"How long after their return will the Messiah come?" Sir Abdur asked.

"Nobody knows this."

There were several more questions before Sir Abdur inquired:

"How many Christians and Jews in Palestine?"

"I don't know," the rabbi replied, "I am not in contact with converts, but a Jew, even if he commits a sin and becomes converted, remains a Jew."

"Then," Sir Abdur said, "according to you, all the Christians in Palestine are Jews."

Chairman Emil Sandstroem called a recess at this point.

General Foods Head Sees 15 Pc. Price Drop Near

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Clarence Francis, chairman of the board of General Foods Corp., predicted today that average food prices may be down "as much as 15 per cent" by harvest time in 1948. He made no specific forecast as to what may happen to prices in the meantime.

The United States Chamber of Commerce in another statement prepared for the joint Congressional Committee on the Economic Report declared that if the Marshall Plan for rehabilitation of Europe goes into effect it is "likely to involve a very considerable upward pressure on many commodities."

Before the committee convened, Sen. O'Mahoney (D.) of Wyoming said the key to stabilization of America's economy is the rehabilitation of Europe and Asia.

Francis, in predicting lower food prices, tol dthe committee:

"By this I don't ment to imply anything like a wide open break in prices. Such a break would probably occur only in a depression, and we don't foresee anything as drastic as that."

Declaring that food has been "getting more than its usual share of the consumer dollar," Francis said: "We regard that as a warning signal. To us it means that food is in for stiff competition from new automobiles, appliances and housing. In fact, the competition has begun. And higher rents may have some further effect."

capped by the low overcast and heavy mists.

One of the leaders was the Rev. Stewart Campbell, owner of Camp Happiness, which he and his wife operate for girls, not far from Camp Tabor.

The Tabor school and camp is run by J. Tabor Browder of Newton, who is affiliated with the Fessenden School. Last summer was the first of its operation.

Nadia's photograph was being circulated among Northern New England police departments today. She is five feet two, weighing 120 pounds, with short blonde hair and blue eyes.

Her father is one of the country's foremost nuclear physicists. He is an outstanding specialist in radioactive isotopes for the field of medicine. At M. I. T. he is in charge of the production of radioactive iodine in the cyclotrone. Iodine used for the treatment and cure of goitre. He also is an authority on radioactive phosphorus, which is used experimentally in the treatment of lukemia.

Prof. Evans reported to the American Ass'n for the Advancement of Science, in 1937, that radium in the human body could be detected five to 10 years before its poisoning effects showed themselves.

When he was first notified of Nadia's disappearance, he said:

"She knew I was to arrive back in the states this week and, since she hadn't seen me since early in May, she may have tried to get home by herself. I know she was happy at the camp. The latest letter we received from her indicated she was in the best of spirits."

Gov. Dale's Son Spots 'Saucer'

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 9—He wasn't certain that it was the "flying saucers" but one thing is sure, Thomas M. Dale, 26, son of Gov. Charles M. Dale saw something strange flying through the air today.

Dale, a veteran of more than eight years of flying, told police and authorities at the Portsmouth Municipal Airport that he and a friend, Jere Stetson of Newfield saw a "mysterious object" from their plane. "It was traveling very fast and was definitely of metal construction," young Dale said.

"It disappeared over Alton Bay and Lake Winnipesaukee," he added.

Split Tax Becomes Law in Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 9 (AP)—A split-income tax bill designed to save married couples in Pennsylvania $100,000,000 a year in federal taxes today had been signed into law by Gov. James H. Duff.

The measure permits a husband and wife to divide the family income and file separate federal tax returns, each for one-half of the family earnings. Twelve other states have a similar law.

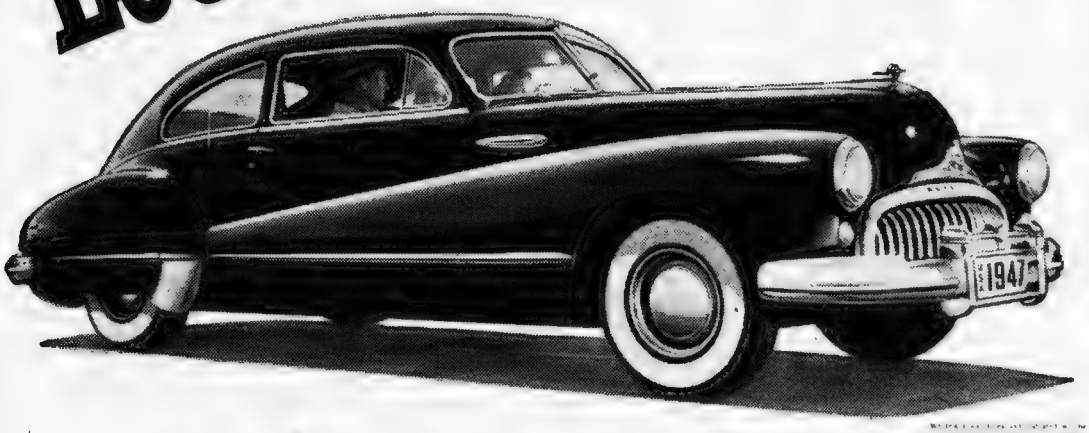
Looks that stay looked at



-and Ability to match

GIVE yourself five seconds, and you know that here's car styling as up to the minute as the time of day.

Spend a few fast minutes to see why – and you spot both smartness right from tomorrow's designing boards and everything that should go with it.

Measure the reach and spread of that Buick bonnet, brim-filled with Fireball power.

Sweep your glance over the broad beam that spells room, the stretch that means easy-riding wheelbase, the size that tells of enough roadweight to end jounce and jitter.

Here, you tell yourself, is something to see. Here are looks to hold the eye for seasons to come – and lively, durable ability to match:

... Rich abundance of smooth, hushed Fireball horsepower from a straight-eight kept young and lively by Accurite cylinder finish.

... Tireless coil springing on all four wheels, leveling all roads to boulevard smoothness.

... Riding poise from two steadying tons of roadweight – ease of handling from balance to draw a ballet dancer's envy. Soft, roomy cushions seating three apiece – finish that's the very last word in richness and taste.

Yes, it takes no time at all to show that you and Buick belong together, should go together steady – so what's holding you back?

After all, we can't do much about getting one to you till you make your wishes plain. You do that simply by placing your order – which will get equal consideration whether or not you have a car to trade.

TUCK AWAY PLENTY! Roomy luggage compartments hold plenty – and high-lifting lids make it easy to get at any piece.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when the lower part gets blocked food may fail to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is something to "unblock" your lower intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits all 5 of Nature's own digestive juices to mix better with your food. You get genuine relief from indigestion so you can feel really good again.

INDIA RUBBER MAN

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 9 (INS)—A motorist was hurled 50 feet in the wreckage of his car after it was struck by a speeding Milwaukee R.R. passenger train—and then got up and walked away.

The motorist, Joseph Lorenz, 50, was treated for cuts, bruises and shock but escaped serious injury.

The front of the vehicle was ripped off from the impact and the remainder of the car, with Lorenz still clinging to the wheel, spun end over end.

Flying Saucer

she's a freak like you? She's a cutie—got long eyelashes thin as a rope."

Appalled at the prospect, I began throwing bottles of anti-gravity fuel out the exhaust every time Balmy's attention wandered. As we passed over Austria, the big green man queried nervously:

"You're not cutting across Russia, are you?"

"Why not?"

"You know how touchy Stalin is about passports," said Balmy. "Swing down to Egypt."

There we found Magellan's gold tooth in a Cairo curio shop. O'Rune filched it without payment after rubbing himself with a jar of invisible cold cream.

On the way back our flying saucer began to lose altitude.

"We're running low on fuel," said the startled green man. "I'll have to contact one of the other saucers and borrow some."

"All I get is a broadcast from the United Nations," complained the Martian. "A man with a Russian accent keeps saying, 'No! No! No!' "

As we settled invisibly down on Brooklyn, I took over:

"Listen, Balmy, this is my stop. Here is a bottle of anti-gravity fuel I hid from you. It won't take you to Mars, but will take you to Hollywood."

"Why Hollywood?" Asked the stricken space traveler.

"Because it's the only place where a man with green fur, claws and a mouth on top of his skull won't stand out in a crowd. Tell them you're a standin for Boris Karloff. But don't say you're from Mars. They'll laugh at you."

And from here on in I'm riding nothing but five-mile-an-hour water wagons. They aren't driven by green guys from Mars.

Coal Pact

cessions—a 44½ cent basic hourly wage increase, an eight instead of a nine hour work-day, and a 10 cent instead of a nickel a ton levy for the UMW welfare fund—the contract points a loaded gun right at the southern group.

This is the next-to-last clause which provides that every signer agrees to meet in a national conference before the contract expires next June 30.

Thus, any southern operator who signs obligates himself to collaborate with the rest of the industry in next year's bargaining, instead of holding aloof as the Southern Ass'n has done since its split with northern operators last December.

The contract covered virtually all northern mines, most midwestern pits, and the largest western diggings.

It became clear that coal and steel consumers would pay much of the higher wage bill. Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio, forecasts that coal prices will jump 70 cents a ton and steel prices $1.10. Some bituminous producers estimated the coal increase at $1 a ton and in a few mines as much as $1.25.

Romania Rejects Aid Meeting Bid

PARIS, July 9 (AP)—Romania rejected today the British-French invitation to a Paris conference on the Marshall Aid-to-Europe proposal, and became the second nation in the Russian sphere to decline the bid. Bulgaria's rejection came last night.

In Moscow, meanwhile, the Soviet press made no mention today of the conference, which will open in Paris Saturday.

An Olso newspaper reported Norway had decided upon participation.

Britain and France last Thursday invited 22 other nations to meet with them with a view to setting up committees for a survey of Europe's needs and resources. Committee findings would be reported to the United States in line with Sec. Marshall's June 5 offer of American aid in a common European reconstruction effort.

Ford Revises Prices On All Truck Models

DETROIT, July 9 (INS)—J. R. Davis, sales director for the Ford Motor Co., announced price revisions on all Ford trucks.

Davis said the changes range from a $17 reduction to increases of $98. He added that the adjustments were made to permit a more equitable pricing structure, in keeping with rising manufacturing and materials costs. Passenger car prices were unaffected.

$5 a Ton Steel Price Boost Predicted

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—An early steel price advance averaging $5 a ton, reflecting higher steelmaking costs, was predicted today by The Iron Age, national metalworking paper.

While the increase is likely to bring better distribution of steel products, the publication said, automobile and home appliance manufacturers may be forced to raise prices due to increased coal costs and a continual loss on some products.

DISC HUNTERS

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 9 (INS)—Four Kalamazoo newsmen have formed the first "flying disc" organization in America.

It was named "the Kalamazoo Chapter of the Flying Disc Association of America." The four men, reporters and copy readers, mounted to the roof of the 15-story American National Bank building, highest in the city.

Armed with a blunderbuss at least 150 years old, a large telescope, a butterfly net and a pencil and pad, they sat for hours, seeking one of the mysterious discs. The net results were—nothing.

The newsmen said they intend to continue their sky-searching, weather permitting.

FOR YOUR NEW CHEVROLET

. . . and enjoy the full benefits of BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST

Buy your new 1947 Chevrolet from us. Buy it where you are asked to pay only the low delivered price—and not a single penny more! That's the American way—that's your way—and that's our way as well.

True, you may have to wait a little while for delivery, but you'll save a lot of money by purchasing your Chevrolet from us at the low price, instead of paying a premium price to someone else just for the sake of getting it a bit sooner.

Obviously, it's wiser to save a lot of money on your new car investment than it is to save a little time on your new car delivery!

Moreover, we are receiving our fair share of cars from the Chevrolet factory, which is out-producing all other makers—we are filling orders at the low delivered prices, day after day and week after week—we are doing our level best to get cars to you and to all who have ordered them—and so, even though the demand still exceeds the supply, you may not have to wait so very long for your car, after all.

That's why we say—pay only the low delivered price, and enjoy the full benefits of BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST. And—yes—we'll get in touch with you the very moment your new Chevrolet is ready for delivery!

N. J. Man Admits Strangling Wife

PLAINFIELD, N. J., July 9 (INS)—The New Jersey "trunk mystery" was declared solved by New Jersey State Police who said Philip Schroll, 59, of Plainfield, had confessed he strangled his wife because she nagged him and forced him into debt.

The nude body of the 56-year-old woman was found the night of April 19 in a trunk on a lonely road near Keyport.

The woman had been strangled with a dog leash.

Son Says Dead Father Slew 4

CAMBRIDGE CITY, Ind., July 9 (AP) — Two law enforcement officers said Walter A. Lawrence, 34, railroad section hand, has attributed four slayings to his father, James C. Lawrence, who died Saturday.

Capt. John Barton of the state police and Sheriff Carl Sperling of Wayne County said the son told them his father was implicated in the death of George Ward, a second hand dealer bludgeoned in his shop here nearly a year and a half ago.

Capt. Barton said the son told also of his father shooting a man the father suspected of being a prohibition agent and of subsequently shooting two other men who had witnessed the killing 20 years ago.

Barton, head of the state police detectives, said a lie detector test indicated the son was telling the truth.

Woman Repudiates Baby-Killing Confession

VALPARAISO, Ind., July 9 (AP) — Sheriff Harry L. Borg said 26-year-old Mrs. Margaret Miller has repudiated a statement in which she told of burning the body of an infant to which she said she gave birth unattended.

Officials said they would recommend that she be committed to a state hospital for the insane.

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—When should I start spraying my pole beans to control the beetle?

A—Bean beetles have already made an appearance. Spray every week or 10 days until this first generation is cleaned up. Cryolite or magnesium can be used until the pods form, then use rotenone.

Q—What harm will heavy dusting do?

A—Heavy dusting will sometimes burn the foliage. It must be kept in mind that spray materials are caustic. Also plants breath through their leaves. Too much dust will stop up the breathing pores. Frequent light dusting is more effective.

Do any insects attack swiss chards?

A—Seldom is the damage to chard heavy enough to require spraying. Flea beetles sometimes attack this plant. The best control is to cut off the damaged leaves and let it grow up again.

Q—Can nicotine sulphate be mixed with arsenate of lead when spraying potatoes to avoid going over the plants twice?

A—Yes. nicotine sulphate or Black Leaf 40 can be mixed with other sprays. Use 1½ teaspoons to each gallon of spray.

Q—For several years our garden peas start to turn yellow and die just about the time the pods form. Stems are black at base.

A—Your trouble is caused by a disease known as root rot. Do not try to grow peas on the same land year after year or this disease will show up. Choose new land in a location that is well drained as wet soil favors the development of root rot. If your garden is small you may have to give up growing peas for a few years.

Baldness OR HAIR? YOU MUST DECIDE

WILLIAM A. STEPHENS (pictured above) decided he did not want to be bald. He was told by others that it was "impossible to re-grow hair." Then he consulted a Thomas expert who determined the exact cause of Mr. Stephens hair loss (alopecia areata). Soon the reliable 20-year proved Thomas method overcame this cause, and stimulated normal hair-growth for Mr. Stephens.

Remedy for Poison Ivy Itch Told in Next American Weekly

You can be spared from the intolerable itching and other distressing effects of poison ivy. Doctors have found that the same chemical used to treat hay fever and asthma speedily halts poison ivy suffering, states G. B. Lal, noted science writer, in "Relief from Poison Ivy," a helpful article which will appear in next Sunday's American Weekly magazine of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Next Sunday, too, The American Weekly will introduce "Heartbreaks of Society," a new series of tragic real-life stories of colorful social register personalities. First story in the series will be "Tragedy of the Wilful Debutante."

Another absorbing American Weekly article will be "Don't Let Baby Be a Dictator," containing some common-sense advice to mothers by Evelyn Barkins, author of the book, "The Doctor Has a Baby." An inspiring story of courage and success is "Two-Fisted Dreamer," the tale of Gene McDonald and his fight to put television in the black.

Other highlights of next Sunday's American Weekly will be "Mystery of China's Great Pyramid," "Face-Lifting for Newport," "Riding the Front-Runners," "Mother Namby's Victory," "Boy With a Baton" and "Case of the Comical Bluebeard," another in the Peter Leving "Album of Famous Mysteries."

U.S.-Ruled Korea Population Soars

SEUL, Korea, July 9 (AP)—The population of American-occupied South Korea has increased by almost 3,000,000 in the two years since the country was liberated from the Japanese.

The increase is straining South Korea's food and shelter supply, barely adequate before the influx began.

American military authorities estimate 1,500,000 have moved in from Russian-occupied North Korea in a continuing migration.

In the first year of the occupation 570,000 returned from Manchuria and China and 1,130,000 from Japan and the Pacific Island. There now are an estimated 21,000,000 persons in South Korea, an area about the size of Kentucky or Virginia.

Britain Allows PW Weddings

LONDON, July 9 (AP)—German prisoners of war will be permitted to marry British women but will not be permitted freedom to live with their wives, George Oliver, under secretary of the home office, told the House of Commons.

His announcement, which was greeted with cheers, came a week after a 22-year-old German prisoner of war, Werner Vetter, was sentenced to a year's imprisonment for "improper association" with a 19-year-old British laundry worker, Olive Reynolds.

Miss Reynolds, who has given birth to a daughter, appealed to Queen Elizabeth and members of Parliament against the sentence. Oliver promised the House of Commons to attempt to "ameliorate" Vetter's sentence.

Rubinstein Draft Case Probe Asked

WASHINGTON, July 9 (INS)—Rep. Ellsworth Buck (R.) of New York demanded today that Congress investigate the case of Serge Rubinstein, Wall Street financier who is now serving two and one-half years in the penitentiary as a draft dodger.

Buck revealed he is introducing a resolution for a special investigation of the case, which he termed "one of the most shocking in the history of our country," declaring Rubinstein would be free on good behavior in "nine short months." He asked:

"What persons, what bureaus, what departments are culpable?"

Buck said the Russian-born financier had his draft classification changed 15 times.

The Congressman declared Rubinstein was admitted to the United States in 1938 on a fraudulent Portuguese passport as an immigrant for permanent residence under the Russian quota.

TRAINING PLAN ADVOCATED

4 July 1947

MR. WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST,
San Simeon, California.
Dear Mr. Hearst:

At the recent monthly meeting of the Northern New Jersey Chapter, Military Order Of The World Wars, held at the Military Park Hotel, Newark, New Jersey, a resolution was adopted favoring the inclusion of Universal Military Training in any military program to be initiated by the government of the United States. Copy of the resolution is enclosed.

We desire to commend you for the large part you have played in furthering this movement.

Cordially,
D. A. HOPPER, Jr.
Commander.
HAROLD V. L. FLANNERY,
Adjutant.

Following is the text of the resolution:

Whereas, the people of the United States, by virtue of their natural devotion to world peace, have consistently discouraged the creation and support of large defensive forces by their government; and

Whereas, during their peaceful pursuits, wars have been suddenly thrust upon them and their government; and

Whereas, in such periods of peril the government of the United States, and its people, have found themselves defensively impotent to protect the life and property of the nation; and

Whereas, by an orderly co-ordination, during periods of peace, of the defensive strength of the nation comprising, amongst other things, manpower and natural resources, a minimum in loss of life and destruction of property may be achieved in any future conflict in which the government of the United States and its people may become a part; be it

Resolved, that the Northern New Jersey Chapter, Military Order of the World Wars is, by unanimous consent of its members, in complete accord with the movement to include Universal Military Training in any permanent military program that may be initiated by the government of the United States, and the said chapter disavows any attempt by any person, or group of persons, to discourage, or interfere in any way with the prosecution of the government's defensive measures.

FACE FACTS!

THE Port of Boston, for which so much was promised and for which so little has been done, fears the loss of 20 per cent of its cargo potential, due to the threatened suspension of intercoastal merchant service.

When are the public officials who control the port going to wake up and face the fact that the ONLY WAY to save this vital terminal is to make the WHOLE NEW ENGLAND AREA self-sufficient and prosperous?

Only a few weeks ago some of the port managers were in Washington opposing the St. Lawrence project and repeating the ancient claim that the project would divert essential traffic from Boston.

Much more practical would have been an acceptance of the truth that the St. Lawrence project WILL GIVE NEW ENGLAND ENOUGH LOW-COST ELECTRICITY TO ESTABLISH HEAVY INDUSTRIES.

The port cannot be prosperous without the activity which heavy industries are bound to create.

GOOD START

IN AN EFFORT to cut the cost of the State government 10 per cent, Governor Bradford has directed that no vacancies resulting from death or retirement be filled without his approval.

This is a long-overdue step forward in the right direction.

But there is no guarantee that it will reduce expenses 10 per cent, or even 2 per cent.

Much more practical would be an immediate survey to determine which jobs are necessary and which are unnecessary.

THE MOST OVERWORKED word in the feminine vocabulary is "cute". A group of women, who meet weekly to play bridge, evidently realize this as they recently offered a prize to the woman who used the word "cute" the least number of times in one afternoon. The woman who won only said "cute" 56 times. Remarkable!

PASSING BY: Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias. Greatest and most versatile woman athlete of all time. She is 34 years old, weighs 146 pounds and was born on June 28 under the sign of cancer. The stargazers say that to women born under that sign "romance and marriage mean a great deal." That's true about the Babe. She talks five per cent about sports, two per cent about clothes, three per cent on general subjects and 90 per cent about her husband.

Babe Didrikson

BRICKLAYERS: A British bricklayer recently made a statement to the press that whether he laid 100 or 1000 bricks a day his pay for the day was the same. And that, as he wasn't satisfied with his pay, he was laying only 100 bricks a day. This inspired a number of people to suggest bricklayers be paid by the brick, rather than by the hour or the day. That seems a fair proposition but the stating of it infuriated the bricklayers.

PLEASE NOTE: Am asked continually about that discovery by a French scientist which will enable flat-chested females to become "oomph girls." The questioners want to know where said preparation can be secured. As far as I know this discovery has not yet been commercialized. It is still in the experimental stage. If and when it is made available to the public, I will inform the inquiring subscribers.

ASIDES: The British Guiana 1856, the most valuable of all rare stamps, is now valued at $90,000! . . . That cocktail lounge in midtown Manhattan featuring waitresses with Dietrich underpinnings, who wear shorts while on duty, is doing a terrific business. The waitresses are said to average five proposals of marriage daily.

ASKING: Query from client. Q—What about the statement of a radio sportscribe that Tod Sloan was barred from riding on the British turf because of the "professional jealousy" of English jockeys? A—Strictly the bunk, sir. Just a statement by an uninformed fellow. Sloan's success went to his head. He was refused a license by the British authorities for some very good reasons. Danny Maher, the American jockey, won many more stakes than Sloan and was never barred in Britain. Johnny and Lester Reiff, also Americans, were highly successful and had no trouble with the authorities.

CO-ED ARMY: The U. S. Army will be kept on a co-ed basis. Women are invited to enlist. The British army also. The presence of women in the ranks of the latter is the cause of some dissension. As for example, the 490th mixed heavy anti-aircraft regiments seems to have attracted to its ranks an unusual number of good looking females. The wives of married members of this regiment view this situation with considerable alarm. Many have asked that their husbands to apply for a transfer to another regiment. This most of the husbands refuse to do. Hence the dissension.

SPINSTERS: A British organization gaining power is the Spinsters Association, which has thousands of members and battles for the rights of unmarried women. Right now less than half of the women of marriageable age in England are married. That's another place where a how to get a husband book should sell well. A how-to-hold-a-husband book should do all right too. It seems many desperate British bachelorettes are not above trying to steal a husband if the opportunity offers itself.

UNUSUAL TRIP: Two New Yorkers recently took an unusual 10-day plane trip from New York to Europe and return. In the 10 days they visited 10 European capitals: London, Dublin, Paris, Madrid, Rome, Berne, The Hague, Stockholm, Oslo and Brussels. Am thinking of taking a plane trip something like that next spring. But I will not confine myself to capitals and will take a little longer. Maybe 20 days. I hope to visit Dublin, Edinburgh, London, Paris, Copenhagen, Madrid, Amsterdam and Brussels.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, July 9—Most union publications are much less honest in their dealings with their members than the Pattern Makers' Journal, even though the Journal has had the unwise effrontery to tell the rank and file that there is an issue of life and death in the new provision which forbids unions to use their money to pay for campaign literature and other political propaganda. The pattern makers are not men who cut paper dolls into dress patterns.

Westbrook Pegler

They are an aristocratic trade of great skill who make wooden facsimiles of ships' propellers and mock-ups. There are only about 13,000 of them in the country. Because they are so few, they have no political influence in the A. F. of L. I doubt that they are so stupid as to believe the propaganda fired at them in their Journal.

The International Teamster for years has been a personal publicity organ for Dan Tobin, the president. There are times when you might think Tobin was God's understudy. I just took down a number at random. It is the Nov., 1944, issue. This is the table of contents:

"Truth about the Statler brawl; naval officers drunk, witnesses say; Roosevelt and Tobin to broadcast; Dewey would kill Social Security; picture of Dewey crashing a picket line; conscription is essential to peace; G. O. P. helped business—into bankruptcy; New Jersey AFL unions unanimous for Roosevelt."

THE STATLER BRAWL occurred at a drunken bout given for Roosevelt by Tobin in the 1944 compaign. It was described appallingly by Merriman Smith, the U. P.'s White House man, in his book two years later but was not described at all by the press at the time. Smith told us that some of the teamsters were disgustingly drunk but we find Mr. Tobin's personal organ withholding that fact from the 900,000 members of the union who are compelled to pay for the paper.

"Roosevelt and Tobin to broadcast" needs no emphasis, but "Dewey would kill Social Security" was a deliberate lie intended to deceive the members and to enhance Tobin's personal position with Roosevelt.

The picket line which Dewey crashed was planted by a union which for years has been dominated by Communists and Dewey was merely keeping a routine engagement. On the other hand, Tobin, himself, had published a general order in the guise of an editorial entitled: "Go Through Those Picket Lines." This was a service to his chief, Roosevelt, when Roosevelt was annoyed by strikes in the war industries. The political quality of the other two titles needs no elaboration.

Throughout the war the Pilot, of the National Maritime Union of the C. I. O., carried many pictures, seldom fewer than five, of Joe Curran, its president who then followed the line of the Communists. The Pilot was his own paper and Curran could do no wrong.

IN NEW YORK, Trade Union Service Inc., owns 15 union papers, published by and for 15 separate C. I. O. unions whose policies seldom conflict with those of the leading spokesmen for the Communist movement. The statement of ownership required by law has revealed that the stockholders are Corliss Lamont, the son of Thomas Lamont, of J. P. Morgan and Co.; James Waterman Wise, the son of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Frederick Vanderbilt Field and William Osgood Field. All these have been cited many times by the Dies Committee and its successor, the new permanent committee on un-American activities.

The fifteen union papers published by Lamont's son and his associates sell for from a nickel to 15 cents and in most of these unions the members are, directly or indirectly, compelled to receive this propaganda as an obligation of membership. Thus, the published propoganda is a penalty inflicted on these workers by the union policy of the Roosevelt government and this is a condition which the Pattern Makers' League would now defend and in the future maintain.

Of course, some private publishers, capitalists have extolled themselves and assumed oracular qualities and angelic virtues in print. The difference, however, is that they do this either with their own money or with borrowed or promoted money. That is private enterprise. The Roosevelt-union coercive combination forced people to join and then forced them to pay for the support of publications which lied to them, concealed crimes against them by the gangsters in charge, praised rogues, vilified honest men and used their money to campaign for candidates and propositions which they detested, all in violation of their fundamental rights as citizens of the republic. None of the rank and file objected to this law against the misuse of union money for politics and propaganda. Only the union bosses objected because only their interests were hurt.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 9—One of Marion Davies' first pictures was "Belle of New York," a successful William A. Brady New York play. She always hoped, after the talkies came in, to remake it, but she retired from the screen and sold the rights to MGM.

June Allyson

Now June Allyson will be starred in "Belle of New York." That, I know, will interest Marion, because she's always expressed interest in June. With June will be Peter Lawford, and this duet will certainly please the bobby soxers.

With the exception of new music added to the score, there will be very little difference in the original play. It will retain all its charm and quaintness.

THERE'S NO TRUTH in the rumor that "Joan of Lorraine" has been called off. I talked to Walter Wanger, the producer, who told me that he and Victor Fleming had never expected to put the Maxwell Anderson play on as it was produced on the stage.

"The new version Anderson is writing," Walter said, "has no part of the modern version of the original stage play."

Claude Dauphin, the French actor, is expected here, to visit the Louis Jourdans, and he will be tested for one of the roles—not the lead opposite Ingrid Bergman, but the important character of the King of France.

LEWIS STONE might be a very good choice to play Frank Bacon, although he is a much bigger man that I remember the delightful veteran of the theater to have been.

The two gents most vitally interested—I mean Director Lloyd Bacon and Producer Robert Golden, are just about convinced that Lewis Stone is the perfect choice for Bacon's biography, "Barnstorming."

Well, they certainly have the right director in mind. Lloyd Bacon is Frank's son.

THANKS to Irving Wallace for his nice mention of me in "Will A Spanish Town Live Again," published last week in Saturday Evening Post.

Wallace writes about Spain today, and he mentions a boy named Enrique and what he does. Says Wallace, "Enrique stops to listen to a radio broadcast in Spanish, coming from a furniture store. The broadcast is a reading of Hollywood gossip collected by Louella Parsons, who is a film oracle even in Madrid."

That, coming the same day as a notation from King Features that the Movimiento chain in Spain, of 60 newspapers, has taken my column, is pleasant news.

CHIT-CHAT: Freddie McEvoy, international playboy, is being seen everywhere in New York with Bea Courtwright, his first wife.

Freddie tried very hard to marry Barbara Hutton, but when he didn't succeed, he decided to reconcile with his second wife, Irene Wrightsman, then that fell through. Apparently that boy is going to get married, or re-married, or else.

Could be he may have a chance with Barbara again, if it's true that she and Prince Troubetsky are at the breaking point.

THE MARRIAGE of Ex-King Carol of Roumania and red-haired Magda Lupescu, as she lay near death in Rio, reveals an interesting inside story of their romance.

They first met when they were children. He was the heir to the Romanian throne, and she the daughter of a palace gardener. Even then he was attracted toward the beautiful child.

Hollywood has never thought up a script more dramatic than this true story, which, I'll bet my last dollar, will be made into a movie.

TYRONE POWER was such a success as a goodwill ambassador when he visited South America, that he's going to take a trip around the world in his own plane. In the middle of August he will circle the globe. Europe, Africa and Asia will be included in Ty's itinerary.

If Nellie Bly took a trip around the world in 80 days, Ty could almost do it in eight days, and that would include stops.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: The Helmut Dantine-Charlene Wrightsman romance is being carried on via trans-Atlantic telephone. When she gets back, despite parental objection, you may expect an announcement.

Paul Douglas, star of "Born Yesterday" and ex-husband of Virginia Fields, is reported recovering from an operation in New York.

Rudy Vallee over the telephone spiked those rumors of a secret marriage to Mary Ann Nyberg. He told me he wasn't engaged to her and had no plans for marriage.

Maeoco, Argentine millionaire, is escorting Ruth Satir about New York. She is a beautiful girl and a singer at the Copacabana. Maybe that's the reason he dropped his $35,000 suit against Kay Williams last week.

Paulette Goddard entertained Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose on her European movie set. The two princesses remained to look at the "rushes" and were fascinated.

Princess Elizabeth

Martha Vickers had everyone admiring her smart orange gown when she walked into Ciro's with Michael North. She said it was a bathing suit, over which she wore a white jersey skirt.

Janet Michaels will not admit that she is marrying George Brent when he gets back in January, but I happen to know that George told friends he expects to move to the Neil McCarthy ranch and take Janet with him as his bride.

Max Krindler, of "21" fame, will meet Dorris Lilly in France. This looks serious.

Marie Osborne, the original "Baby Marie" of "Our Gang" comedies, has been signed by Paramount for Phyllis Calvert's next picture.

Leonard Picker, Eagle-Lion producer, will be sued for divorce. His wife will charge that when he went to Mexico to make "Adventures of Casanova" he took the title too seriously.

The Errol Flynns gave Sara Hamilton a birthday party on Sunday with a cake and all the trimmings. No, Sara won't tell how old she is. Well, neither will I.

At the Al Hall, on the Fourth of July, Clark Gable came with Iris Bynum. It was a very nice party.

Joseph Schenck gave a small but delightful dinner for Louis B. Mayer on the Fourth, to celebrate L. B.'s birthday.—

Boston After Dark

MARK HELLINGER is in town . . . Being introduced in a current dime magazine to a couple of million readers as "The Softest Touch in Hollywood," it was nothing more than an elemental precautionary measure which made Mark register at a Boston hotel today with a request for "no publicity . . . Good hotels comply with such a request by casting suspicious guests . . . No pun in it, as a hotel trade term however which does not mean as it might seem to imply that the requesting guest is staying away from publicity.

IT MERELY assures the guest that inquires for him at the switchboard or front desk will be met with a bland reply: "Not registered" . . . Mr. Hellinger, even if he were not a motion picture producer and prominent in a business which sustains itself through publicity, would not be one to dodge the minions of the press. For Mark can boast, or admit, that he "used to be in the newspaper game" himself . . . Used to be? . . . He still is—but not as active as before . . . His copyrighted style of short, short stories with a trick, punch ending, or "switch," are read avidly by millions of readers of the Pictorial Review of the Hearst Sunday newspapers . . . Twenty years ago, Mark was a very active member of the working press . . . He did a daily and Sunday column titled "Behind the News," and it dealt with Broadway.

A PERSONABLE and easy-going chap, Mark has an utter incapacity to take either himself or his position too seriously . . . His first major effort in the movies (as a producer) was to pare out a short, short story by another writer (Ernest Hemingway and make it into six reels of celluloid under (hallelujah!) its original title, "The Killers" . . . It made box-office records and was acclaimed critically for its pungent dialogue . . . Mr. Hellinger was largely responsible for keeping the dialogue . . . Many of his confreres are devoted to another method of producing . . . Having bought an expensive "original" by a name-author, these others plunge heavily in writers whose faith in themselves is so strong that the original author can go to sleep on the proposition that nothing of the original will shine forth from the screen . . . "The Killers" not only made box-office records; it made an actor named Burt Lancaster.

NOW A STAR, Lancaster is in Boston with Producer Hellinger . . . Mark has visited Boston a few times in the dim past . . . Most of those visits coincided with the presence in town of Miss Gladys Glad, an outstanding ornament of the "Ziegfeld Follies," but not by Ziegfeld . . . Mark courted Miss Glad successfully when he was a newspaperman, and not a millionaire . . . (Was that added clause necessary?) . . . As Mrs. Hellinger, the onetime reigning Broadway beauty, has been proof against time . . . Gladys is recognized as one of the loveliest women in the country . . . The Hellinger Boston junket got off to a lively start with a preview this morning at the Universal projection room of "Brute Force," followed by a luncheon for those present at the preview.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: The smear campaign against the House Committee on Un-American Activities continues to be waged in the same determined fashion which was successful in driving Martin Dies into obscurity . . . The fellow-travelers and Reds with columns and radio tabernacles are calling the committee "The House Un-American Committee" . . . When you read that, don't smile—get angry . . . Fredric March and his wife, Florence Eldridge, appeared as character witnesses for Herman Shumlin, the theatrical producer, as they prom-

Dressing Up Spinach

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

SPINACH IS ONE of the many plentiful vegetables in the market at present. It is no hazard in households where mothers have learned to cook it according to flavorful and interesting recipes.

Enhanced by the brightness of carrots, full of luscious raisins and topped with a cheese frosting, this baked spinach dish, for instance, simply melts away the family's resistance. Moreover, the chopped peppers and cooked chopped onions which are also a part of the recipe heighten the vitamin content at the same time that they dress up the bland natural flavor of the spinach.

A casserole dish, baked spinach also has the advantage of providing a way of using up vegetable leftovers. One caution though—in pre-cooking the spinach, be sure not to overdo it.

BAKED SPINACH

½ lb. fresh spinach
1 cup chopped green peppers
2 cups cooked sliced carrots
2 cups cooked chopped onions
2 tbsp. seedless raisins
2½ tsp. salt 1 tsp. sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. chili powder
Dash cayenne pepper
¼ cup tomato juice
½ cup grated American cheese

Remove roots and tough ends from spinach. Wash thoroughly. Place in saucepan with only the water which clings to the leaves. Add green peppers. Cover and cook about 10 minutes, or until spinach is just tender. Drain and chop fine. Combine spinach and peppers with carrots, onions, raisins, salt, sugar, cinnamon, chili powder, cayenne pepper and tomato juice. Mix lightly. Turn into a well-greased 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in a hot oven (425 deg. F.) 10 to 15 minutes, or until cheese is melted and lightly browned. Makes 6 servings. Note: Two cups cooked diced celery can be substituted for carrots.

Here are other tasty ways of preparing spinach:

SPINACH RING

2½ cups chopped cooked spinach ½ tsp. nutmeg
1 cup thick cream sauce
1 tsp. onion juice
1 tbsp. lemon juice
3 eggs, well beaten 1 tsp. salt

Mix all ingredients together and pour into greased 1-quart ring mold. Set mold in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 45 minutes until firm. Unmold on hot round plate and fill center with creamed mushrooms or other creamed vegetable. Makes 6 servings.

SPINACH TIMBALES

2 cups chopped cooked spinach
2 tbsp. butter, melted
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup milk 2-3 tsp. salt
Dash of cayenne
½ tsp. onion juice
2 tsp. vinegar or lemon juice

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Pour in greased timbale molds or custard cups. Set molds or cups in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 20 minutes until firm. Unmold on rounds of toast arranged on hot platter. Serve with tomato cream sauce or Hollandaise sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Birthday Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE
Wednesday, July 9, 1947

If today is your birthday: You ought to face the future with more confidence. Persons born on this date are unusually blessed with common sense, patience and perseverance. Your luck will be particularly good if you drive ahead with greater vigor than ever in the next four months.

Lucky number: 11.
Lucky flower: WHITE CARNATION.
Lucky stone: OPAL.

YOUNG ADULT smartness is reflected in this fall-season young original by Emily Wilkens who makes black moire fitting for youth. In the two-piecer . . . she puff-peplums the jacket and adds a Peter Pan collar and jewelled buttons for the decorative note. A dandy date-dress for the miss who takes her growing up seriously and fashion-wise.—R. N.

Safety Milk for Sun Fans

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

THE LYRICISTS have been self-ordained publicists of the sun and summertime symphony. They've endowed it with all the toothsome goodness of a chocolate sundae. But the good old summertime can be pretty miserable . . . although they don't put THAT in the lyrics . . . if old sol leaves you as toasted as an overdone marshmallow.

At the beach over the week-end . . . and it was a hot siege . . . we noticed the burning sands crowded with sun-worshippers (still winter-white) who were protected by little more than their illusions. Our professional instinct made us want to rush over and caution them lest their skins be tormented into a state indistinguishable from 15th century parchment. We wanted so very much to urge them to temper their enthusiasm with common sense . . . and to let the sun toast them, NOT roast them.

But discretion was the better part of our valor . . . and we were enjoying a respite from daily toil . . . so the column serves as the soap box for our sunnyside up dissertation. Have your session in the sun . . . but no post-mortems. Be safe rather than sorry and make use of a creamy liquid skin tenderizer after you've basked to your heart's content. Only then can you hope to keep the complexion soft and smooth when the sun is done with it.

This famous-name product is not designed to induce a cocoa-colored exterior . . . but to help minimize the damaging effects of sun and wind. Its pure milky texture is specifically formulated to tenderize the complexion after the complexion has suffered the drying-out process in your desire to emerge from the beach a bronzed and beautiful goddess.

Let the sun's caresses tint you a creamy beige . . . if that is your wish . . . but then protect the finished product with a liberal splashing of this milky-white liquid. So when sun and sand hours are over . . . you won't have to refuse that dance-date under the stars because your face is like an old shoe.

Keep in mind, too, that all sunburns aren't acquired on beaches and patios. It's almost as simple to pick up a lobsterish hue on the golf links or tennis courts . . . while pruning the hedge . . . while sitting in the back yard or on the rooftop. But if you are interested in looking smoothly sunkissed . . . rather than crisply scorched . . . you'll use this complexion-milk generously after all your outdoor activities . . . and on your shoulders, nose and legs, too.

Meet the sun halfway . . . but be ready! Get as brown as the proverbial berry, if you like, but don't inherit a leather-like complexion in the bargain!

For the name of this complexion milk to keep the complexion sunnyside up, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except week-end, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If YOU would help keep the skin soft and smooth AFTER a session in the sun . . . if you would emulate the sun-kissed facial loveliness of this model whether you're boating, swimming, beaching or sunning . . . take a tip and get a grip on your complexion with a specifically formulated complexion milk that honies it into creamy charm.

Courtesy Tip

It is stupid to misspell a name, and stupid to mispronounce a name. When you are in any possible doubt as to the spelling or pronunciation of a name, be courteous enough to the person to find out the correct spelling and pronunciation. — MRS. BEECKMAN.

Straighten Affairs First

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: My girl and I are of different faiths. We want to get married, but I am unable to get my father's consent and my girl friend's parents object to their daughter marrying me without it.

However, my greatest problem is not social but financial. I have rented an apartment and bought all the furniture, which I paid for through DVA, only to find that I had overdrawn my account by $900. Now the law is after me.

Mary Lou and I have only each other. Surely they can't break that up, too. Would you please advise me what to do.

NOEL.

Dear Noel:

I advise you, and strongly, to put all thought of marrying aside until you get your tangled affairs straightened out. You sound to me like a pretty irresponsible young man, and I am afraid if you attempt to plow through your problems in the precipitate way you seem to be doing, you are going to end up in serious trouble.

I have no knowledge of how your Department of Veterans' Affairs works, and so I am not in a position to advise you on your financial difficulties. I should think the obvious thing would be to consult the proper person in that department. But it strikes me as very odd that you should overdraw your account to such an extent before finding it out.

I also think you had better not brush aside so lightly the matter of your different faiths and your parents' attitudes toward your marriage. More complications lurk in such situations than you appear to realize.

If Mary Lou is really in love with you, she'll wait till you straighten yourself out. But I think she should wait, too, until you develop less hasty ways and a greater sense of responsibility.

For Restful Moments

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

ALL THE riches of the Indies found their way to the Turkish bazaars, and sultans, proud in their cloth of gold and diamonds went there to buy the beauty of the world. An echo of the richness of those days is found in the styles designed for a woman's precious hours of relaxation, those oases of beautiful serenity snatched from her busy days.

These fashions call a woman to beauty. For the hours when a woman can relax and be utterly feminine, the collections offer a vast array of lovely lounging ensembles. Fabrics more luxurious than the sultans wore go into their making. While styles are delightfully diverse, it is the pajamas that take the prize.

The harem style lounging pajamas designed by Zoe de Salle and sketched today would make even a sultan envious. They are made of light gold satin. Seven yards of fabric have gone into each trouser leg, but the fullness is so closely shirred to the ankle bands that there is no bulk. The molded bodice, cut very simply, is fitted tightly to the waist. Easy little cap sleeves and a mandarin collar give grace to the neck and shoulder line.

Hospital Volunteer a Commuter

MR. AND MRS. ROGER EASTMAN HALL of Wellesley Hills and their debutante daughter Barbara are spending the summer at their seashore estate at Salters Point, South Dartmouth.

Barbara commutes daily to New Bedford where she is a volunteer at St. Luke's Hospital and will come up to town tomorrow evening for the coming-out party of Harriet Sprague at Longwood Cricket Club. She graduated from Beaver Country Day, will attend Colby Junior College and her debut is scheduled for the Christmas holidays.

AS A RESULT of their hobby of going to stay with children of their friends when the parents take vacations, Mr. and Mrs. Homer White of Ipswich are both authors now.

Mr. White is a writer and his wife, Anne Hitchcock White, a cousin of Governor Bradford, is publishing her first book next month. It is "The Adventures of Winnie and Bly," a delightful juvenile story based on tales she invented to entertain her youthful charges. The stories were requested over and over again so often she was obliged to write them down and then decided to publish them.

Born in St. Louis, the daughter of a prominent judge, Mrs. White attended Milton Academy and Vassar College. She is related to Gov. Robert Fiske Bradford through her mother who was a Fiske.

She has traveled widely with her author husband, living in Germany, Mallorca and England. In 1942 when her husband went to Spain she worked at an aircraft school for the Army giving instruction in a very technical subject, the electrical system of an airplane.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK S. TROY, JR., (Mary Favorite) are the proud parents of a second daughter, Fredericka, born July 3 at Phillips House. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Troy of Boston and Mattapoisett and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Foster Favorite of Commonwealth ave.

NORTH SHORE PLAYERS literally had a doggy audience when Miriam Hopkins opened in "There's Always Juliet" this week. Movie star Constance Bennett held her cute little French poodle in her lap through the whole show. "Miss Prudence" goes everywhere with her famous mistress and was so well behaved she was hardly noticed by her socialite neighbors in the audience including Mrs. Francis B. Crowinshield, the Samuel Chamberlains and daughter Narcisse, Mr. and Mrs. Morris LaCroix and Mrs. Duncan Dana. The latter gave a punch party after the show for Miss Hopkins and Miss Bennett.

SALEM PAIR WED 50 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Crouk of Main st., Salem, today are observing the 50th anniversary of their wedding. Both are active in the affairs of the Hannah Tennad Memorial Church and have lived in Salem for the past 25 years.

'Unfaithful' at Par-Fen

"The Unfaithful," starring Ann Sheridan with Lew Ayres and Zachary Scott, will be the feature attraction of the Paramount and Fenway bill starting tomorrow.

The co-feature offering will be "Blackmail," an action thriller, with William Marshall, Adele Mara and Ricardo Cortez.

"The Unfaithful" is based on the dramatic question, "Can a man ever forgive a woman for being unfaithful?" Ann Sheridan is the indiscreet wife whose unlawful relations lead to disgrace and murder. Zachary Scott plays the husband who discovers his wife's unfaithfulness. Lew Ayres portrays the role of a divorce attorney and family friend of the estranged people.

Russian Color Film At Kenmore Today

"Stone Flower," the Russian color film recently awarded first prize at the International Film Festival at Cannes, France, is being given its New England premiere at the Kenmore Theater today. The plot concerns a young stone-cutter who is so ambitious to achieve perfection in his craft that he deserts his bride on their wedding night to follow the queen of a magic mountain in her fairy kingdom of gems.

On the same bill is "Life at the Zoo," based on amazing animal experiments conducted at the Moscow Zoo. Unusual shots include one showing a bear and lion contentedly at play.

"IVY" TO REMAIN OVER

"Ivy," suspenseful drama of a villainous wife, starring Joan Fontaine with Patric Knowles, Herbert Marshall and Richard Ney, continues on the Keith Memorial screen for five additional days beginning Friday. The co-feature, Rachel Field's "Time Out of Mind," starring Phyllis Calvert, Robert Hutton and Ella Raines, also remains.

Wife Hangs Herself With Handkerchief

RIDGEFIELD, Ct., July 9 (AP) —The body of Mrs. Alice Vail, 52, was found hanging from a handkerchief tied to a doorknob in the bathroom of her home on the Danbury-Norwalk road.

Medical Examiner Joseph Sloan Bell said it was a case of suicide. State Police Sgt. Henry Palau reported Mrs. Vail's body was found by her husband, Elias, when he returned home from a kennel where he is employed as manager.

Louis Conqueror: The Man They're Still Looking For

By AUSTEN LAKE

THEY'RE HUNTING THAT MAN again—the fellow to lick Joe Louis! As yet he's not in sight, but he's somewhere!

For a brief spell they thought it might be an ex-beer hall bouncer named Joe Baksi. So they—meaning the simonopolists of the 20th Century Club, fattened him for the killing by shipping him on a European tour to knock over what the trade calls a few "stiffs," or "bindle bums," by way of advance publicity.

Only, Baksi got biffed over himself by a large, raw Swedish party named Olle Tandberg at Stockholm. Of course, Baksi's manager hollered larceny, but then every fight manager keeps the scream of theft on his tongue in case his lunch-ticket gets punched. But the entry stands on the ledger! Baksi was licked.

The Dangling Plum (?)

THIS CREATES THE WILDEST confusion in the ennobled circles of fisticuffs. Because Joe Louis is rapidly going stale and the 20th Century mob are pining to squeeze him for one more fight gate before he goes mouldy, or quits.

Old Mike Jacobs, the ailing impressario, is suffering from what the mob calls "a case of not feeling so good." So his No. 1 stooge, Sol Straus, is giving out statements which consist mostly of shoulder shrugs and brow puckers. But Joe Louis, nearing athletic old age, just grins and says gleefully, "Now I don't have to fight this year." Joe doesn't like to fight any more and the 20th Century solons are frantic lest he refuse to fight before they can find a suitable stumblebum to face him.

But who? Baksi, plainly, is boxoffice poison! Tandberg is a nobody from nowhere, sure to be a turnstile flop! So they talk of matching aging but still able Louis with the winner of the Ezzard Charles-Elmer (Violent) Ray bout on July 25—both nondescript low-raters. Meanwhile there are dozen fight managers, like Boston's Johnny Buckley and his man Skor, who are slavering and drooling at the thought that here is a $1,000,000 over-ripe plum waiting for the proper jostle, with no fighter able to furnish that jostle.

Somewhere in this broad land is the unknown and undiscovered conqueror of Louis, unless the old man with the white beard and the hour glass, Father Time, beats him to the wallop and Louis retires. Yet, such is the dollar hunger of the fight mob and such Louis's sense of duty, that he will linger for at least one more go.

It happened this way during the nine-year doldrums after Jess Willard beat (fraudulently they say) the only other negro champion, Jack Johnson, and the fight industry was cluttered with a long line of undistinguished goofs. Tex Rickard ran off a synthetic "elimination tourney" but got nothing but gray hair. Then suddenly it happened—the stranger from nowhere.

A group of the heel-rockers and curbstone-loafers were telling about it at Conn's camp last year—the inevitable exhalers of large language to be found around the fringes of the nauseous business. One of them was a grizzled veteran named Johnny Attell, who had managed fighters and bucket of blood clubs and knew everything and everybody.

So Johnny, in his growly argot, was telling how he was spoiling a couple of hours at the New Polo A. C. on 129th st. one winter afternoon in 1916, when a strange, lean, tough heavyweight dropped in for some muscle work.

The Stranger from Nowhere

"NOBODY KNEW THE GUY," said Johnny, probing his dental work with a match, "but as soon as he strips and begins moving around the moochers stop watching the stiffs and begin watching him. He had class even when he just shadow boxed, a tough, slinky style like an alley cat. So all the fight managers, who were guys living mostly on wind and imagination, begin to edge over hoping to sign him on.

"I wasn't eating so regular myself at the time and was teamed with a hustler named Lew Raymond, a very fast tongue thrower. Lew and me was flatter'n a poor house purse most of the time and what lettuce we got came from John-the-Barber. So while we send a bozo called Izzy-the-Painter down to John's with a hurry call Lew oozes over and, pretty soon, has the guy tied to a contract which Lew always carried around—just in case, see!

"When the Barber arrives, he takes a quick gander and says: 'Who's got 'm?' and we say: 'We got 'm,' and show him the contract. 'Am I cut in?' asks John and we say: 'Nix, no cut-ins.' But I hurry to add: 'We are momentarily out of funds and if you give us a couple of C-notes you can have the contract.

"John knows something big when he sees it, so he riffles off a couple of yards and hands it to us and we give him the contract. Only he ain't quite satisfied with the way it's worded and tears it up and gets the fellow to sign another. Later there's trouble about the new paper and it turns out no good. But if the Barber keeps our contract he'd had the guy cold."

The boxer's name? Jack Dempsey! For such is the sudden way a potential champion comes from the wide blue yonder. And maybe the new champion, the conqueror of Joe Louis, will come that way too—a husky kid from Kansas corn belt, or a Texas oil rigger, or a Jersey Steel puddler. Who knows?

Williams Crosses Up N. L. By Changing Batting Stance

By JOE CASHMAN

CHICAGO, July 9—"How did Harry Brecheen manage to tie Teddy Williams into knots in the World Series?" That was the question most frequently asked by the baseball legions here today as they rehashed the 1947 All-Star game, wherein Ted The Kid lined out a harsh double and a crisp single, both to right field, in two trips to the platter against Harry The Cat. Brecheen, the Cardinals' smart little southpaw who turned in three victories over the Hose last October, pitched to Williams the same way as he did in the World Series—fast balls right in on the Kid's fist it was agreed by National Leaguers.

But, says American Leaguers, Williams didn't assume the same stance at the plate.

"For the first time in his big league career," revealed one member of the Red Sox All-Star game group, on the promise his name would not be used, "Ted was cute at the plate."

"Until yesterday, he crowded the plate every time he went at bat since joining the Red Sox. Pitchers could throw inside or outside to him and he wouldn't vary his set position a fraction of an inch.

"He was repeatedly advised that a pitcher with a lot of stuff could get him out consistently by keeping the ball in at his fists, particularly when opponents packed three infielders between first and second base to foil him. He wouldn't listen.

"He had the idea that if he changed his stance, he might ruin himself as a hitter.

"Nobody suggested that he change yesterday. But change he did, on his own. He was at least half a foot further away from the plate than ordinarily on his two times up against Brecheen.

"Consequently he was able to hit a double and a single against a packed defense on the same pitch which had him helpless in the World's Series.

"If he keeps that up and continues to move around up there in the batter's box, I predict he'll quickly stop the opposition pulling trick shifts. I also predict he'll do the greatest hitting of his career for the remainder of this season.

He demonstrated to one and all yesterday that if he moves back a little he can pull inside pitches for safe hits through any defense. Thus, pitchers, to protect themselves, will be forced to try to stop him with pitches away from him. This they can never do if three of their supporting infielders are bunched between first and second.

"In other words, rivals will be forced to use a normal defense against him and, with no shift to worry about, he'll wear out all hurlers whether they throw inside or outside."

Williams' hitting was the chief topic of conservation in the wake of the American Leaguers in 14 dream games, but there were also plenty of words spilled about other fellows from Boston. Fellows named Cronin and Doerr and Sain and Spahn.

Cronin, managing an A. L. All-Star entry for the third time, and returned a victor for the second time, showed the "guts" which have always characterized his performances both as a player and a manager.

The Skipper played percentage to the limit in the eighth inning. Walter "Specs" Masterson of the Senators, becoming the third A. L. pitcher in the seventh, retired the Nationals in order in the lucky frame. He disposed of Andy Pafko, first up in the eighth. He then walked Marshall, putting the tying run on first base, but he struck out Phil Cavarretta, batting for Bruce Edwards, for the second out. Right then and there Cronin lifted the Solon slinger.

Johnny Mize, who had homered off Frank Shea for the only N. L run in the fourth inning, was coming to bat. Joe "Lefty" Page of the Yankees was well warmed up in the bull pen.

Cronin decided to call in the Bombers' southpaw to pitch to the left-handed swinging and always dangerous Mize, even though Masterson had pitched hitless ball.

They'd be blasting the Fenway foreman from Maine to California for that move right now if it hadn't worked out. Joe well realized this, too. But he refused to play it safe. His mind, the best A. L. pitching bet at that moment, with Mize at the plate and the left-handed Swinging Enos Slaughter on deck, was portside Page. So he made the shift.

Page didn't succeed in stopping Mize. The Giants' slugger extraordinary singled to right field, putting the tying run on third and winning run on first. But he did get Slaughter for the third out on an easy roller to Lou Boudreau and he went on to hurl a hitless ninth.

So Cronin received what orchids weren't tossed to Williams, Doerr, White Sox Luke Appling and Senator Stan Spence.

While Appling scored the first A. L. run in the sixth inning, after opening the frame with a single, it was Williams who advanced him to third with a single. Luke scored as Joe DiMaggio was hitting into a double play.

Then Doerr took over. He singled sharply to left against Braves' Johnny Sain with one away in the seventh. He proceeded to steal second. It was a hit and run foiled by a high pitch. He then romped to third when he was hit on the back by the ball when Sain attempted to pick him off the middle cushion.

Sain, who was charged with the defeat, pitched his arm and heart out to keep Bobby from scoring.

Hail Southworth As B's Continue Bid for Pennant

By JACK CONWAY

THE BRAVES, PLAYING SMART, HEADS-UP BASEBALL, are certain to receive an enthusiastic welcome from New England baseball fans as they open a home stay tomorrow against the Reds in their determined bid to bring the first National League pennant to Boston since 1914.

Billy Southworth, who is responsible for the success of the Braves to a greater degree than any other person, still refuses to say his club will win the pennant. Since early spring at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Southworth has been telling people that the Cardinals were his choice to win the pennant, and that he figured the Dodgers would finish second.

Southworth has declared he felt the Braves would finish behind the Cardinals and Dodgers.

"It is always better to concede something to the other fellow," Southworth said. "Then if you happen to do better than you anticipated, there is more reason for being pleased."

It's the opinion of most baseball leaders that the Cardinals have more class ball players than the Braves or Dodgers, but on the record they have not done so well. In recent weeks, the Cardinals have improved in their playing, and they hope to prove, as they did a year ago, that they are great stretch runners.

While the Braves cannot match the Cardinals man for man in baseball ability, Southworth has proved repeatedly he is superior to Eddie Dyer as a manager. In fact, since Joe McCarthy shuffled up Buffalo way and called it a career, as far as managing ball clubs is concerned, there has been no manager in either league who has equalled Southworth.

ONE HAS TO SIT BACKSTAGE with Southworth to realize fully the time and patience he puts into his work as manager. He keeps a complete record of what each player does each day, and he is able to turn to his personal file and get complete information on any of the Braves.

When Fred Allen, radio comedian, was a juggler years ago with the Keith circuit, he possessed no more tricks than Southworth shows during a baseball series. Billy is a firm believer in using as many left-handed hitters as possible against right-handed flingers, and he calls for right handed batters when a southpaw goes to the mound for the opposition.

These shifts are usually made in his outfield.

It is significant that George Stallings, with numerous ordinary players in his lineup, employed similar strategy back in 1914 when the Braves won the National League pennant and then walloped the Athletics of Eddie Collins' day four straight in the World Series.

In his quiet, mild way, Southworth remains in complete command of his club. His players respect his amazing baseball ability, and they never question his various moves.

Bob Elliott's hitting and good fielding have been important factors in the playing of the Braves. Southworth engineered the deal by which Elliott came to Boston when Billy Herman moved to Pittsburgh as manager.

OTHER THAN ELLIOTT, the Braves possess no great infield stars. Earl Torgeson and Frank McCormick have been alternating at first base. Torgeson has batted in many runs and has proved good making extra base hits, but he still lacks some of the polish he will gain with experience. McCormick is a veteran who knows all the baseball answers.

Connie Ryan at second base always plays an aggressive game, and Dick Culler at shortstop is a good fielder which offsets some of his batting weakness. Sibby Sisti is a better hitter than Culler, but he is not as sure a fielder.

If Sisti could steady down a bit, he would be one of the best players in the league.

Bill Voiselle will bolster the pitching staff a great deal if he can continue to pitch as he did in his winning effort against Brooklyn. Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn have done most of the effective flinging for the Tribe this season.

Behind the bat Southworth has been obliged to place most of his reliance on Phil Masi.

The Braves would welcome a hard hitting outfielder and another first string pitcher, but even if he doesn't get them Billy will continue to keep his team high in the flag fight. Southworth will impart his amazing knowledge of baseball to his players and they'll carry out his orders.

THE BRAVES TRY FOR THE EXTRA BASE when there is a chance of making it. They call on the squeeze play when they think it will aid them, and long hitters like Torgeson will continue to drive in many runs.

When Torgeson was benched he went to Southworth and asked to be put back into the game.

"I'm not tired or worn out," said the former GI. "I'm just in a slump and the way to get out of a slump is by playing ball. I cannot improve sitting on the bench."

Torgeson expressed the views of the 1947 Braves. Every player is eager to get into action, and Southworth usually gives them an opportunity to do so.

Ask the average man on the street who knows baseball and he will not hesitate today to cast his ballot for Southworth as the No. 1 manager of the National League. Southworth is the reason the Braves must be given a chance to win the National League pennant even though Bill still names the Cardinals and Dodgers as the No. 1 and No. 2 teams for the final standing.

Jack Conway's next column will be in the Sunday Advertiser.

Locke Tabbed Golf's 'Man of Hour'

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP)—Bobby Locke, the former "Boy Wonder" of Johannesburg, South Africa, who now has grown up to golf's man of the hour, today set out on a campaign to surpass Ben Hogan as the nation's leading money winner before returning home in the next two months. Locke, who as an RAF bomber pilot flew 100 missions in the Mediterranean theater during the war, trounced Ed "Porky" Oliver by six strokes to win the All-American 36-hole championship playoff yesterday and collect $7000, golf's richest prize.

This award pushed his total earnings in winning five out of 10 tournaments to $16,187.50, and vaulted him into second position on the financial list behind Little Ben, who is tops with $17,099. Hogan, however, has pocketed his change through 52 tournament rounds, while Locke has banked his in only 32 rounds of competition since becoming the greatest golfer to visit these shores in 25 years.

Locke today was en route to New York for a series of exhibitions with Jimmy Thomson at Buffalo and Ithaca, N. Y., before hitting the golden tournament trail again in a showdown with Hogan for the money-winning title. Hogan, like Jimmy Demaret, who now is third on the list with $16,061, passed up the Tam O'Shanter jamboree when Promoter George S. May offered Locke a $5,000 guarantee and posted two separate prize brackets—one for those wearing identifying numbers and just half as much winnings for those who refused.

Locke plans to meet Hogan in the $10,000 Canadian Open July 16-19; the $10,000 Columbus Invitational July 24-27; the $10,000 St. Paul Open July 31-August 7, and possibly the $12,500 Western Open in Salt Lake City August 29-Sept. 1.

ELLIOTT??

Bill Southworth, manager of the Braves, expects that third baseman Bob Elliott, who suffered a finger injury in Saturday's Brooklyn game, will be ready to play in the series with the Reds starting tomorrow

'One That Got Away' By Jimmy Andrews

By DARK MONTREAL

BUZZARDS BAY, July 9—It's a little passt midnight and the current in Cape Cod Canal is about at the slack and we are waiting for it to turn east to make up the rip—that is, three of us are waiting and one of us is fishing.

Jimmy Andrews and Jimmy Kay and I are sprawled on the grass bank above the rip-rap, swapping yarns. Charlie Sherer is already down on the edge of the big ditch throwing his eelskin a mile.

"Did I tell you about the big bull I didn't enter in the Canal derby last year?" Jimmy Andrews asked.

"Go ahead," said Jimmy Kay.

"It was two or three days before the close," began the long ex-fly boy. "I didn't have a good fish entered and I was working hard. It was a weekday and I was fishing alone, casting from a mussel bed on the other side, the tide well down. I was using a plug.

"Well, I was casting from the mussel bank and there was a drop off of a few inches from the edge to the water. I made a cast and gave the plug a little twitch in the rip and another little twitch and wham! That fish sounded like a Mack truck falling from the Bourne bridge into the Canal and he felt as heavy. I knew he was a bull. He moved out deep and hung, dogging it—you know how they hang."

"After a while I got him moving in," Jimmy continued," and by and by I got him up on the surface and close to shore and had a look at him. He looked good. 'There's the first prize, anyway.' I said to myself. 'Maybe second prize and even first prize.' I worked him in and in the backwash I could lead him up on the mussel bed four or five feet from shore and I stood there [illegible]. Maybe thirty pounds, I figured. Well, third prize, anyway. I thought I was [illegible] my right hand [illegible] I should have reached for [illegible] and the [illegible] and the two [illegible] and [illegible] edge [illegible] and looked [illegible] He was laying there on [illegible] under my feet, [illegible] his mouth, the edge of his [illegible] looked by the hooks. [illegible] a long time, not moving, and I stood there watching him, six or seven feet of water between us. Then I pushed the butt of the rod down towards him and he swam slowly away out into the current."

"I will entitle that The Big Flop," said Jimmy Kay.

Just then there is a sound like another Mack truck falling off the bridge and landing in the canal right in front of us. We all jumped up.

"Fish going past!" I exclaimed.

"Going past hell!" called Charlie Sherer. "Bring the gaff!"

Eight Hearst Sandlot Aces Named in Hub

By JACK CONWAY, Jr.

All Americans have their 4th of July, the Irish have their St. Patrick's Day, and the school kids have their Graduation Day but a day was celebrated yesterday afternoon at Braves Field that was the greatest of anything ever offered in its particular field.

That was Sandlot day for Greater Boston. The day will always be memorable because a surprising total of 680 sandlot ball players competed for eight coveted positions.

The sandlot baseball production sponsored by the Hearst New England newspapers — the Record, American and Sunday Advertiser —was conducted to select the eight boys who will represent Greater Boston in the Hearst New England sandlot finals at Fenway Park July 29.

The excellent job of weeding out 672 boys and selecting eight is a fine tribute to the men who conducted the trials. Bill Barrett turned in a fine performance as he directed the boys.

Claude Davidson, Dy, Bissonette, Bob Cusick, Buzz Mallans, William P. Long, Bill Walsh, Red Sliney, Tony Segolides, Hank Pacco, Edgar Merrill, Bill Flaherty, Rev. George Dodd, and Gene O'Connor worked as a unit to make this [illegible] one of the greatest or any [illegible] ever held.

The eight [illegible] all top players [illegible]

Bob Fiscaro, 17, 21 G[illegible] st., Somerville . . . outfielder . . . 5 ft. 11 in. . . . 165 pounds . . . hit .345 for Somerville [illegible]

Francis X. Conboy, 17, 178 Bowdoin st., Dorchester . . . outfielder . . . Mason High graduate . . . only 135 pounds but a great hitter.

Jack Mahoney, 17, 175 Dean st., Norwood . . . catcher . . . hit .391 in 1946 . . . hit .311 in 1947 . . . good arm . . . 155 pounds.

John Wettlaufer, 16, 58 Hillcrest rd., Belmont . . . hit a sensational .526 while playing third for Belmont High. His brother Andy was on the Hearst team last year.

Charles Haskell, 17, 183 Kent st., Brookline . . . shortstop . . . excellent fielder and hitter . . . weighs 179.

Joe Ross, 16, 34 Highland Park ave., Roxbury . . . A 6 ft. 3 in. pitcher . . . plenty of speed . . . pitched for Boston Trade School.

Walter Keaney, 17, 130 High st., Dedham. . . . All Scholastic full back on Record American team of 1946. . . . weighs 185 and stands 6 ft. in height . . . he hit .312 while playing third for Dedham High this season.

Jack Bowles, 17, 1329 Washington st., Norwood . . . A lanky 6 ft. 2 in. right hander who blazed through the season with an 8-0 record for Norwood High.

Youths Seeking Spot In Hearst Golf Finals

The fourth and final qualifying round for the Hearst New England golf championships which will be staged at the beautiful Wachusett Country Club, West Boylston, Mass., on Friday morning will be one of the keenest of the entire tournament. The best golfers in the Worcester area will be on the starting tee at 8:30 in the morning to compete in the great Hearst tournament. The prize aawiting the two finalists will be a trip to Los Angeles for the National Hearst Junior tourney.

Eight boys will qualify from each club. The 32 qualifiers then will compete in the N. E. finals at Woodland on July 28, 29, 30. The first three rounds were at Pawtucket Golf Club, South Shore C. C., and Merrimack Valley C. C.

Jack White, Jr., of the Stockbridge Country Club, is one of the foremost entrants for the Wachusett round. Jackie is the son of the famed Stockbridge pro Jack, Sr. is also a pro at Indian Head, Fla.

Jackie White, who shoots in the vicinity of 73 or 74 will have some stiff competition for medalist honors. Some of the other entries for the Worcester round are P. Hurley, Wachusett; Herb Salsbury, Packachaug; Tom Hayes, Worcester; Jack Faulcner, Worcester; Bill Roberts, South Hadley; Ken Ross, Springfield; and Don Broghamer, Packachaug.

All competitors must be under 19 years of age. There is no entry fee.

OAKLAND, Cal., July 9 (AP)—Frank Lamb, a short, smooth-gliding Londoner, is the world's champion roller skater over a two-mile course.

She Englishman won by three strides last night over U. S. Champoin Harold Wyant of Dayton, O. He covered the 24 laps in 6:00.5, to stake out for the empire one of the top events in the first International Roller Skating Championships at the Oakland Auditorium.

Wrong Horse Brings on $19,000 Suit

LOS ANGELES, July 8 (AP)—A shipping error is the reason film director Albert Rogell and Ivan Stauffer got a $11,000 race horse instead of the $6750 one they purchased at a thoroughbred sale last year, the California Thoroughbred Breeders Ass'n has explained.

The association, answering a $19,000 damage suit by Rogell and Stauffer, said it subsequently has been determined that J. D. Rogers received the horse that they should have had and that they got the one that should have gone to Rogers, due to the shipping error.

The trouble wasn't discovered until Rogell and Stauffer tried to race the horse that was shipped to them, only to discover that the animal's markings did not match those listed in its registration papers.

Association members declared in the suit that they suggested the two parties exchange horses or certificates since neither can race their respective animals with the wrong papers, but that the idea was not accepted.

Sidelights At Suffolk

By DAVE WILSON

Tuesday's mutuel "handles" at the rival Suffolk and Lincoln meetings were $803,607 and $322,244, respectively . . . Naragansett Park played to a daily average attendance of 13,228 at its recent 30-day session . . . A genuine old-fashioned melon-cutting went amiss yesterday afternoon at Suffolk Downs when the Orlan Lodge Stable's Grant Rice, who was making his initial start since 1944, could do no better than save place honors behind Know How.

According to belated reports from Rhode Island, Lincoln Downs could have swelled its opening day mutuel "handle" by another one hundred thousand, or possibly two, if the track had an adequate number of mutuel vending machines in operation . . . Wonder if Lou Smith will substitute a "flying disc" for the helicopter at his forthcoming summer session?

The age-worn adage "often a bridesmaid but never a bride" seems to hold true in the case of A. Richer's Happy West, who finished up a fading third at odds-on favoritism again yesterday. This half brother to the stake stars Fleet West and West Fleet has yet to earn his initial set of brackets although he finished second at favoritism in three consecutive prior outings at Narragansett Park . . . The hottest stable in New England at the moment is the J. H. Carr Stable which put over a double yesterday with Gray Star in the featured Quincy Purse and Tripos, winner of the seventh event.

Jockey Sammy Williams, who piloted W. I. Lunt's Sir Kid to victory in yesterday's seventh race, was the leading rider in the country several seasons back and is still reputed to be one of the best hooters in the land . . . Speed handicappers rated Doodle Bug and Tripos an even up proposition in yesterday's seventh race, but the "figgers" went for naught as the latter drove to a "walk-over" victory with "The Bug" out of the picture.

Gus Martinez, the turf scribe from down May-he-co way, confines his wagering to Jockey Fernando Fernandez's mounts and has been doing right well—thank you . . . Some of the more inquisitive souls are still asking whatever happened to Spangled Game when the Reigh Count gelding failed to raise a respectable gallop at bridge-jumpnig odds last Saturday at Gansett.

Miss Lenczyk Tops College Girl Golfers

COLUMBUS, O., July 9 (AP)—Grace Lenczyk, the Arnold College star from Newington, Ct., led eight co-eds into the quarter-finals of the womens' national intercollegiate golf tournament over the Ohio State University course today.

So far the women's intercollegiate, like the Chicago Tam O'Shanter's ladies' division, has been all Lenczyk. After capturing medalist honors Monday, Grace stepped out yesterday and polished off Ohio State's Bonnie Randolph, 8 and 7.

Her foe today was Gloria Clark of Washington State College, who eliminated Patricia Devany, of the University of Miami, Fla., one up in a first round match.

Two Rollins College co-eds, Rosann Shaffer and Clara Mosack, were paired in the second match while Shirley Spork of Michigan State Normal and Helen Goldthorp of Centenary Junior College, Hackettstown, N. J., teed off third. The last two-some had Miami (O.) University's Carol Clark of Cincinnati against Nancy Porter, University of North Carolina.

Clara to Swim At Portsmouth

The Record - American - Sunday Advertiser championship swim meet at Wentworth-by-the-Sea, Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday afternoon is expected to attract at least 85 of the best swimmers in New England. The meet will be spiced with water ballets, diving exhibitions and water acrobatics.

Joe Prata, N. E. champion, will be among those competing in the NEAAU 440-yard free-style event. Clara Lamore, a National AAU champion as well as an American record holder, will swim in a 220-yard NEAAU event.

Norman Kitching, meet director, announced today that 18 entries have just been received from Helen Carroll, director of the Winchester S. C., and that Bob Miller, coach at Bowdoin, is sending his entire swimming team.

Home-Bred Foals Race in Jersey

OCEANPORT, N. J., July 9 (AP)—The $10,000 New Jersey Futurity, with eight home-bred foals entered, headlines the eight-race program at Monmouth Park today.

Favorite in the 5½ furlong sprint is Woodland Farm's Picture Card with Tommy Malley atop.

The Futurity is a modern day replica of the Homebred Stakes, an annual event in the days of old Monmouth Park in the 1890s. Also scheduled is the first annual showing of Jersey foaled yearlings with approximately 50 youngsters making theid debuts.

Our Hair & Scalp Treatments Give You Quicker Results

THE best hair and scalp care costs no more than ordinary treatments but the results are as different as day is from night. Our hair and scalp methods are more certain, more thorough, more permanent, simply because we know the causes of hair loss, itching scalp, dry, or excessively oily hair and how to correct these disorders of the hair and scalp. You've read about the rest, now get the best. Free examination and consultation without charge. If we accept you for treatment, no down payment is necessary—fees are reasonable—non-greasy, odorless medications are used. Treatments are pleasant and relaxing.

Hodder Pacing State Amateur

By the Associated Press

Clark Hodder of Framingham, who retired after failing to qualify in defense of his State Amateur gold championship back in 1937, held a two-stroke lead today as the 39th annual tournament went into the second half of the 36-hole qualifying round at the Commonwealth Country Club.

Hodder, secretary of the sponsoring Mass. Golf Association and a Harvard golf coach, led the field of 160 at the end of 18 holes by displaying a brilliant putter and scoring a two-under-par 70 yesterday.

Hodder, who entered this year's tournament "for the fun of it," collected seven birdies with his brilliant putting, including a 30-footer on the 18th hole.

Trailing the 1936 titlist by two strokes were Jim Harvey of Winchester and Harry Ernst, Boston College sophomore, with 72's.

Grouped at 73 were Ed Murphy, Mass. CYO champion, Don Karra, Salem, and Art Peterson, Fitchburg, a finalist 10 years ago.

Eddie Martin, Winchester, who was defeated by National Amateur Champion Ted Bishop in the finals a year ago, shot a 74. Bishop failed to defend his title, while Carl Nettleblatt, Wachusett, a pre-tourney favorite, also did not appear.

Among the players tied at 75 were Bobby Knowles, 1946 medalist; Ray Mirard, 1938 finalist, and Joe Batchelder, former N. E. amateur titlist.

57 Now on Roster Of Football Colts

BALTIMORE, July 9 (AP) — The Baltimore Colts announced today the signing of two more football players, bringing to 57 the number of gridders under contract to the newest member of the All America Professional Football Conference.

The latest to ink Colt contracts were Mitchell Olenski, a 220-pound tackle from Hicksville, Ohio, and Jack Sachse, a center from Electra, Texas.

Plan Bachelor Dinner For Bruins' Pat Egan

A bachelor dinner will be tended to Pat Egan, a member of the Boston Bruins hockey team, July 17, at the Hotel Lenox.

Pat will be married to Sally Briers, July 26.

Thomas J. Kanaly, Eugene W. Driscoll, Joseph Blumsack, James Briers and Tommy McCarthy are in charge of the dinner arrangements.

Pro Stars Join Football Clinic

PASADENA, Cal., July 9 (AP) —Co-tutors Clark Shaughnessy and Frank Leahy grabbed a pair of skilled experts in the T-formation today to assist them in their grid clinic for football coaches which will be conducted here July 24, 25 and 26.

The two, head coach Bob Snyder and his aide, Joe Stydahar, of the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, replace Frankie Albert and Norm Standlee on the clinic's staff.

A spokesman for Shaughnessy and Leahy, both of whom are due here shortly, said "previous commitments" would prevent Albert and Standlee, stars of Shaughnessy's great Stanford team of 1940, from participating in the clinic.

Dilboy Post Holds Amateur Bouts Tonight

The Dilboy Post, V.F.W., presents its third weekly amateur bouts at Dilboy Field, Somerville, tonight.

New England champion Francis Collins and William Higging, both of Boston, will feature the 118's, while Arthur Sullivan, Boston, and Earl Carroll, Haverhill, head the entries in the 126's.

Competition will be held in all classes from 112 to heavyweights.

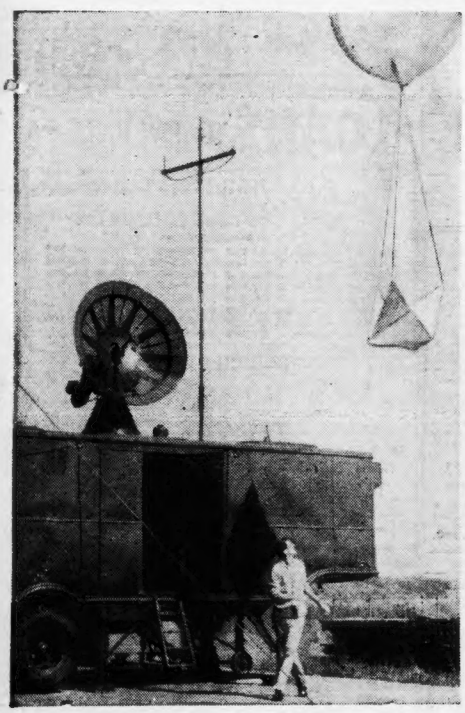
Doerr Scores Winning Run—Red Sox second baseman Bobby Doerr (broken line) streaks for home plate in seventh inning of All-Star game to give the American League a 2 to 1 lead over the hand-picked National League team at Wrigley Stadium in Chicago. Stan Spence, a pinch hitter, goes down to first after hitting a looping single to center field which allowed Doerr to come home with what proved to be the winning run. AP Wirephoto



Radar Kite—An Army lieutenant moves away after test-launching an eight-foot balloon with attached foil-covered radar target during tests being made at Kansas City. Mounted on the truck is a radar cone to plot course of the target, used to check wind direction and velocity. Before the target comes to earth it will no doubt be mistaken for a flying disc. AP Wirephoto

Sandlot Selectees—Jack Maroney, Norwood catcher; Bob Ercoline, Somerville centerfielder; Walter Keaney, Dedham third baseman, and Joe Ross, Roxbury pitcher (l. to r.) were among the eight Greater Boston youths selected for local team to play in the Hearst New England sandlot finals at Fenway Park on July 29. Some 680 ball players turned out for the coveted positions and possible big league futures. (Story on Page 28). Record-American Photo by Lester MacLellan.
